Terrorists Operating In At Least 15 States

FEDERAL AID SOUGHT FOR 'BLACK' QUIZ OIL CASE REHEARING DENIED

Detroit Trials Postponed As Prosecutor Pushes Statewide Probe

WASHINGTON, May 27.—(UP)—A resolution to provide for a congressional investigation of the Black Legion was introduced in the house today by Rep. Samuel Dickstein, D., N. Y., author of an earlier resolution to investigate Nazi and Communist activities in this country.

DETROIT, May 27.—(UP)—Evidence of terroristic activities of the Black Legion in 15 or more states is in possession of Prosecutor Duncan C. McCrea, he said today in announcing he had asked cooperation of the federal government in his investigation.

I know definitely that the Black Legion is now operating in 15 to 18 states," the prosecutor said. "I know that it is very active in the cities of New York and Chicago."

Examination of 12 members of the hooded legion charged with the kidnapping and murder of Charles A. Poole, 32, was adjourned today for six days despite the objections of their attorneys.

Returned to Jail

All were ordered returned to county jail after Judge Ralph W. Liddy refused to entertain motions for bail.

Prosecutor McCrea requested the adjournment in order that his office might pursue its inquiry.

He promised the court that "within four or five days I anticipate we will be able to bring other defendants into court and have a hearing for all of them at one time."

"John Doe" warrants charging 12 other members of the legion with the murder of Poole, who "knew too much" about the inner workings of the band, have not yet been served.

Meanwhile, inquiries into the Black Legion were to be extended statewide in efforts to determine whether other mysterious deaths, tortures, bombings and arson could be attributed to the vigilante group.

Today's examination, called to satisfy the court that the defendants should be held on the charges of murder and kidnapping, brought brief testimony of only three witnesses—two relatives of the slain man and the medical examiner who performed the autopsy on the body of the former WPA worker.

McCrea's request for adjournment fostered a bitter courtroom argument with Defense Attorney Bernard W. Cruse. The attorney remarked caustically that "the prosecutor wants the delay so he can look into his own office and determine if anyone besides himself has signed a card with the Legion."

Denies Affiliation

"Anybody who says I had anything to do with this organization is a liar," the prosecutor shouted in reply.

The attorney's references were to charges made by the Detroit Times that McCrea's name had appeared on an application card found in the files of the Black Legion. McCrea, indignantly denying any connection with the cult, said he would file suit against the Hearst newspaper.

The defendants, including Harvey Davis, self-styled "colonel" of the legion, and Dayton Dean,

JAIL VICE AIDES ON BRIBE CHARGE

NEW YORK, May 27.—(UP)—The arrest of four men and a woman on charges of attempting to bribe, influence and threaten the lives of witnesses in the vice trial of Charles (Lucky) Luciano and nine aides, was disclosed today by Special Prosecutor Thomas E. Dewey.

"I didn't specifically charge four of them with any crime," Dewey said, "because I am after the higher-ups for whom they are working."

Samuel Kornbluth, an attorney, of Brooklyn, was arrested last night for allegedly attempting to influence a woman to contradict the testimony of Florence (Cockey) Brown, the state's star witness. He was booked on a charge of "attempted subornation of perjury" and was released in $1000 bail.

G. O. P. LEADER Earl Warren, district attorney of Alameda county, has been named Republican national committeeman from California. Warren recently headed a spirited fight that chose an un instructed delegation to the G. O. P. national convention in Cleveland.

BARBER FOUND GUILTY OF 3 MORALS COUNTS

LOS ANGELES, May 27.—(UP)—Robert S. James, amorous barber who later will be tried on a charge of murdering his wife, today was found guilty on three morals counts involving his 21-year-old niece, Lois Wright.

The sudden ending of the case came through a defense strategy which James hoped would give him an advantage when he and Charles Hope, former sailor, go on trial on charges they murdered Mary Busch James by means of rattlesnake venom and drowning.

The jury was out 22 minutes. James' defense had closed with only six words, spoken by his attorney, "the defense has nothing to offer." The barber's counsel also waived final arguments.

The state had spent nearly two days presenting evidence of the frolics of the barber and his 21-year-old niece in a bungalow "tapped" with dictograph wires by investigators. The records were read in court.

James will be sentenced next Monday. He faces a term of one to 50 years on each count.

The murder trial of James and Hope is scheduled for June 22.

Jewish-Arab Riot Spreads To Jaffa

JERUSALEM, May 27.—(UP)—Guerrilla warfare waged by Arabs protesting Jewish immigration to Palestine spread to Jaffa today.

An official government bulletin declared Arabs at Jaffa had resumed sniping and police were returning their fire in an effort to restore order.

Culver Changes Story Of Whittaker Slaying

LOS ANGELES, May 27.—(UP)—James Fagan Culver, 23-year-old Kentuckian, reversed himself today to declare from the witness stand at the murder trial of Samuel T. Whittaker, 60, that he had been hired by the one-time church organist to stage a fake holdup in which Mrs. Whittaker was shot and killed.

Yesterday Culver, who previously had pleaded guilty to second degree murder in Mrs. Whittaker's death, amazed prosecution attorneys when he suddenly testified that he had never seen Whittaker before.

The state, which had counted on Culver's testimony to convict the elderly musician, went so far as to declare Whittaker exerted a hypnotic influence over the trembling witness. Culver was near collapse under the stare of Whittaker and was assisted from the witness chair.

The youth appeared recovered today as he resumed testimony.

"He (Whittaker) said he wanted to pull a fake holdup and give the lady a thrill," Culver testified.

Special Legislative Session Solves Relief Problem For Several Months.

SACRAMENTO, Cal., May 27.—(UP)—California's unemployed were assured a continuation of the dole and penniless aged who meet residence requirements were promised a $35 monthly pension today as a result of action taken by the 51st legislature.

Before adjourning its special session last night, the legislature approved two measures solving the relief problem for the next several months and liberalizing the state old age security act.

It also passed 10 rather technical bills, rejecting only two of the 14 proposals outlined by Gov. Frank P. Merriam's official call.

The relief measure, which was the major reason for the special session, provides that $2,500,000 of the next fiscal year's $24,000,000 dole appropriation may be spent to finance relief between now and July 1.

This amount will be sufficient to handle relief until the remainder of the appropriation becomes available on that date, administrators said.

Age Pension Approved

Of equal and more lasting importance in the eyes of social security-minded lawmakers was the old age pension bill introduced by Assemblyman William Hornblower, San Francisco.

Becoming effective July 1, it provides that eligible aged—those who are 65 or over, have lived in the state five years and have no means of support—must be paid a monthly pension of $35.

Any cash income received by the pensioner will be subtracted from that amount, and a $10 reduction will be made in cases where no rent is paid.

Eligible married couples will receive $70, if each is able to meet requirements.

The pensions will be financed as

NEW BRITISH SHIP ON MAIDEN VOYAGE

ABOARD S. S. QUEEN MARY EN ROUTE TO NEW YORK.

May 27.—(UP)—Great Britain's proudest ship put out to sea on her maiden voyage at 4:32 p. m., Greenwich time, today.

The super-liner, which is expected to smash all commercial speed records in a run to end Monday at Ambrose lightship, off New York, was edged slowly from her pier at Southampton, Eng., by six tugs. While half a million proud Britishers cheered her on her way her nose swung eastward toward the Isle of Wight and the passage to the open sea.

A favorable sea and a following wind awaited her beyond the jagged entrance of the Needles, gateway to Southampton.

Papa Dionne Again Denies Stork Report

CALLANDER, Ont., May 27.—(UP)—Another of the periodical reports that the stork is about to pay another visit to the Dionne home brought the usual emphatic denial from the father of the quintuplets today.

Olivia Dionne had retired and refused to come out of his bedroom last night to talk about the report, which he said was "the same old story." Through Mrs. Dionne's uncle, Telephone Demerise, he relayed the statement that "it's not true."

CANDIDATE FOR U. S. JOB FIRST TO FILE HERE

RAY ADKINSON, taking out his nomination petition as a Democratic candidate for congress, today became the first Orange county candidate to officially enter the campaign for any office.

The Orange county superintendent of schools was in County Clerk J. M. Backs' office early today to file for his nomination papers, as the legal period for circulating and filing such petitions opened.

The filing period will end June 29. The next earliest bird in the political garden was S. James Tuffrey, Placentia rancher, who will contest for the office of county supervisor from the third district against his fellow-townsmen, Supervisor Leroy Lyon.

Two other opponents for Lyon are expected to enter the race before the filing period closes. They are former Supervisor William Schumacher, of Buena Park, now a director of the Orange County Water District, and W. J. Carmichael, former mayor of Fullerton.

Adkinson was the first of several prospective candidates for congress to officially enter the field. Supervisor N. E. West, of Laguna Beach, has announced his candidacy for the Democratic nomination, and various groups, including the Townsend clubs, are reported to be urging Assistant District Attorney James L. Davis to make the race. Riverside and San Bernardino counties each may have a Democratic candidate, also.

So far no opponent has definitely appeared for Congressman Sam L. Collins in the Republican primary.

POLICE DROP PROBE OF "MYSTERY MAN"

LOS ANGELES, May 27.—(UP)—Police today dropped an investigation of Bruno Dalberg, 52, San Francisco clerk, who said he deposited his $27,000 live savings in 22 different banks to keep his "in-laws" from attacking the money.

The police action followed word from New York relatives denying they sought any part of the man's money. Joseph Weiss of New York who is caring for Dalberg's daughter, Eugene, 12, sent word that "we don't want his money and I'll fight him with my last penny to see that he doesn't get his child."

Weiss is the grandfather of the girl, to whom Dalberg said he intended to give the money when she became of age.

LATE FLASHES

ALL-TIME RECORD

WASHINGTON, May 27.—(UP)—A new all-time record for peacetime government financing was announced today by Secretary of the Treasury Henry Morgenthau Jr. for June 15 when the government will borrow $2,050,000,000.

SENSATIONAL ANSWER

LOS ANGELES, May 27.—(UP)—In a sensational amended answer to the lawsuit of Adele Blood Hope, former Oakland choir girl and stage star, Mrs. Effie Frances Cowie charged today her late husband gave Mrs. Hope a series of promissory notes to prevent exposure of an illicit love affair.

Mrs. Hope is suing the estate of Robert E. M. Cowie, once president of the Railway Express agency, for $9000 on the notes.

RULING MARKS END OF TEAPOT DOME SCANDAL

Secretary Upholds Government's Right of Title to Elk Hills Land

WASHINGTON, May 27.—(UP)—Secretary of Interior Harold L. Ickes today denied the request of the State of California and nine other claimants for a rehearing of the famous Elk Hills oil case in which the federal government took title last year to $25,000,000 worth of petroleum and gas lands.

The ruling, marking the official end of the Teapot Dome scandal, said: "I have been able to find no reason either to change my prior decision or to grant the motion for a rehearing."

Ickes' decision upheld the government's right to the title and control of the valuable area containing 35 productive oil wells and four gas wells containing some 22,000,000 barrels of petroleum and vast quantities of natural gas.

Rights Reaffirmed

The ruling also reaffirmed the government right to require the ten claimants to account to federal authorities for more than 5,500,000 barrels of oil and 57,000,000 cubic feet of gas already taken from section 36 of Elk Hills, within the boundaries of the U. S. naval petroleum reserve No. 2 in California.

The claimants were: State of California; Standard Oil Co., Calif.; Mrs. Sidney H. Greeley; Frank J. Furman; Charles O. Fairbank; Edward L. Doheny; Thomas A. O'Donnell; Pan American Petroleum Co.; Valley Natural Gas Co., and the Associated Oil Co.

Ickes' decision last year held that the oil land was "known mineral land" on Jan. 26, 1963 and that it rightfully belongs to the U. S. government.

The motion for a rehearing was urged by the claimants who traced their rights to the area back to 1903 when it was acquired by the state of California under the school land grant act.

The Pan-American company, based in its request for a rehearing on a stipulation in a federal receivership January 17, 1933, involving its assets under which the company later paid the government $5,500,000.

Ickes ruled that "under no reasonable hypothesis is the Pan American company, entitled to a rehearing on the ground specially invoked."

Ickes summarized his decision against a rehearing as follows: "On reviewing all the evidence in the record, and after considering all the arguments advanced by the claimants, I reaffirm my original decision, and now again find as a fact that section 36, T. 30 S. R. 23 E., M. D. B. & M. was known mineral land before, on, and after January 26, 1903, the date of the approval by the commissioner of the general land office of the survey officially establishing the boundaries of that section.

"The motion for a rehearing is denied."

Sentence Promoter In Radio Swindle

LOS ANGELES, May 27.—(UP)—Bayard Weibert, 39-year-old Hollywood promoter, was sentenced to nine to 15 years in San Quentin today for defrauding investors of approximately $40,000 they put up for a supposed broadcasting venture.

Superior Judge Joseph Vickers, denying Weibert a retrial, described the defendant as "particularly dangerous because of his high intelligence and suave manner."

NEW DEMOCRATIC REVOLT IS THREATENED ON TAX MEASURE

WASHINGTON, May 27.—(UP)—A new Democratic revolt threatened the Senate Finance committee today after President Roosevelt rejected a compromise on the corporation tax bill because it failed to produce sufficient revenue.

Insurgent Democrats on the committee indicated they would "stand by our guns" in defense of the compromise despite the president's insistence that the revised measure was inadequate.

Mr. Roosevelt pointed out at a White House conference that the yield of the compromise was $500,000,000 short of his $1,137,000,000 recommendation, urged that it be increased and that the bulk of that increase be obtained from corporations.

The conference, attended by committee Democrats, Majority Leader Joseph T. Robinson, D., Ark., and Secretary of Treasury Henry Morgenthau, Jr., broke up shortly before midnight with the almost-completed tax compromise torn wide open again. The treasury was asked to submit new estimates on proposed revisions.

As a result, the committee delayed this morning's session until afternoon. The rebel members weighed the extent to which they might go in fighting new plans to be proposed.

These plans, it was understood, may include proposals to retain the present 1 1/2 to 15 per cent flat tax on corporations and to substitute for the proposed 7 per cent tax on undivided profits a graduated tax which would be graduated to a higher scale more in line with the widely-criticized house bill.

Another suggestion would keep the compromise flat rate of 18 per cent and raise the 7 per cent super tax to 9 per cent or higher.

Vigorous opposition to such plans was promised by some rebel Democrats and by Republican members of the committee but the extent of such an uprising remained uncertain until more definite proposals were formulated and until the effect of possible political pressure could be determined. Some veteran members of the committee hoped that a solution to the conflict could be found within a few days.

The administration's concentration on corporation earnings as the source for increasing the yield was indicated by the fact that suggestions for boosting the normal income tax rate and for broadening the base of surtaxes on incomes were not even discussed at the White House session. Discussion of processing taxes, which the president originally suggested, also was entirely omitted.

6-2 BALLOT ASKS ACTION IN CONTEMPT

Recommendation Also Calls For Citation of 2 Aids in House Defiance

WASHINGTON, May 27.—(UP)—The house old age pension investigation committee today voted six to two to recommend a contempt citation to the house for Dr. Francis E. Townsend and two aides, who have refused to appear for questioning.

The committee, by the same vote, agreed also to refer the case to the United States district attorney's office for court trial instead of recommending trial by the house. Those to be cited are the Rev. Clinton Vander New York, and John H. Kiefer, Chicago, both directors, in the Townsend movement.

The committee did not act on defiance of its powers today by Sheridan Downey, Townsend's attorney.

Downey Not Called

Chairman C. Jasper Bell, D., Mo., said Downey's name had not been called for testimony although he is under subpoena.

Thus, he is technically not subject to a citation.

Representatives John H. Tolan, D., Calif., and Samuel L. Collins, R., Calif., both Townsend supporters, voted against both decisions.

The action was taken after an hour and a half executive session. At a public hearing in the morning Albert Gart, 27-year-old University of Chicago economist, explained his belief that the plan is unworkable.

Bell said a temporary draft of the citation resolution, which will be introduced in the house for action either tomorrow or Friday, had been discussed in the executive session and it would be given formal approval at another meeting late today.

The committee's action climaxed a six-day fight among its members following the aged physician's walkout from the committee room and his declaration he would "rot in jail" before returning because of the committee's alleged unfairness in questioning tactics.

Townsend advised both Kiefer and Vander to appear. He sent the same advice to other Townsend leaders, who were summoned but not called to the stand yet.

Bell said he would convey the action to Speaker Joseph W.

NAZIS TRY MONKS ON MORALS COUNTS

COBLENZ, Germany, May 27.—(UP)—Nazi prosecutors trying the first of a group of Franciscan monks on charges of immorality today charged mass immorality in monasteries even outside Germany.

During today's court session the prosecution announced it would produce evidence showing all except one of the monks "in a Franciscan monastery in a western country neighboring Germany are engaged in immoral actions."

The trial began in a fanfare of publicity directed by the ministry of propaganda under Dr. Joseph Goebbels.

Observers believed the Nazis were intent on using the trial for propaganda against Catholics on even a wider scale than was employed when large number of monks, nuns and other ecclesiastics were tried on charges of violating Germany's currency regulations.

follows: $15 from the federal government, $10 from the state and $10 from the county in which the person resides. The act will be administered by county authorities.

Not every pensioner will receive $15, of course, since some will have small incomes on the side. State officials estimated the Hornblower act would increase the average pension payment from $25 to $30 a month, and cost the state an additional $2,500,000 annually, with a like amount added to the expenditures of the 25 counties.

No provision was made for financing the extra expense, and this was one of the major arguments used in opposition to the bill which passed the assembly unanimously and the senate by a vote of 27 to 7.

Under the present act, the pension ranges between $20 and $35, depending upon the circumstances and the opinion of county welfare workers. The average is $22.

Close associates of the governor said they were certain he would sign the pension bill, which was inserted in his official program at the last minute, after Hornblower had been assured of at least 60 supporting assembly votes and was threatening to "blow the dome off the capitol" if the governor ignored the pension problem "in favor of apples and fish."

Only two of Merriam's 14 proposals were defeated. They were bills to permit artificial coloring of canned and other processed tomatoes, and to permit restoration of unemployment insurance contributions in event the federal social securities act is declared unconstitutional.

The assembly turned down Democratic bills to establish a minimum wage of $15 and to authorize the issuance of scrip instead of registered state warrants.

SEEK TO RECOVER PROTESTED TAXES

Suit to recover $3620.65 paid in taxes under protest, was instituted in superior court today by the Associated Telephone Company, Ltd., naming the County of Orange and the cities of Huntington Beach and Laguna Beach as defendants.

The tax amount was paid on an assessment of $127,025 upon the telephone company's holdings in this county, including plants at Westminster, Huntington Beach and Laguna Beach. This assessment, the plaintiff claims, was unequal with that upon adjacent property, and therefore void and illegal.

O'Melveny, Tuller and Myers, Los Angeles, represent the plaintiff.

KEN Murray SAYS:

Automobile fuel manufacturers in this country were started to learn that, due to the high price of gasoline, Italy is planning to use wine as a motor fuel. . . If that happens, it's really going to take a good mechanic to tell whether a motor is missing, or merely hiccupping.

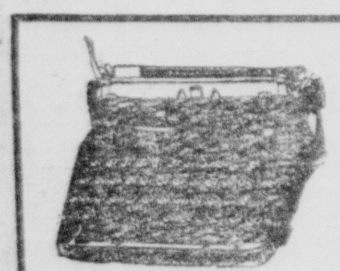

Personally, I'd imagine the Italian pedestrians would be kinda afraid that the use of wine would make the cars act like Ili Duce. . . You know, sorta drunk with power.

Of course, if this idea becomes general in our big cities, I suppose they'll have to arrange all their traffic lights by the stagger system.

And too, it'll be awfully embarrassing to the driver if every time he stops his car at the curb, it tries to lie down in the gutter.

But regardless of what kind of wine motorists use in their tanks, I'll bet the cops will still continue to use side-arms for a cheer.

HIGHER-UPS BE TARGETS IN GRAFT INQUIRY

SAN FRANCISCO, May 27.—(UP)—The grand jury investigation into alleged widespread graft in the San Francisco police department reached into the ranks of the higher-ups today when Edwin N. Atherton, chief investigator and former department of justice agent, said William Quinn, chief of police, will be summoned to testify.

"Whether or not Chief Quinn was a recipient of graft is no concern of the jury just now," Atherton said, "and the prosecution of a few policemen for taking bribes is of secondary importance in this investigation. The chief aim is to break up the intricate machinery of graft collection and so change the police department that it never will be able to return to those conditions."

Quinn will be questioned concerning the inner workings of the department, the manner in which special duty officers are appointed, and why shifts in personnel are made.

The list of suspended officers increased to 20 today when Lieutenant Peter A. McIntyre and Patrolman George Lillis were ordered to turn in their badges for refusal to testify.

YOUTHS HELD TO HIGHER COURT ON BURGLARY CHARGE

George Washington Kidd, 13-year-old Garden Grove boy who allegedly confessed he burglarized 12 Santa Ana residences and three in Riverside, during the past two months, and 19-year-old Guadalupe S. Placentia, 627 1/2 East Pine, Santa Ana, were held to answer to superior court on burglary charges, when they appeared before Justice Kenneth Morrison today for preliminary hearing.

Information against the youths probably will be filed Friday in superior court. They are specifically charged with burglarizing the A. J. Smiley home, 1415 North Garnsey street, here, May 18, when Police Chief Floyd Howard and his men captured them, allegedly in possession of numerous pieces of the Smiley family personal property. Placentia, officers believed, was Kidd's partner only in the alleged burglary of the Smiley place. Both were captured shortly after the burglary was discovered and after Placentia inadvertently dropped his own blizzard in the Smiley yard. The blizzard contained his name and address.

COMMITTEE VOTES TO CITE TOWNSEND

Byrns and discuss means of speeding it for house floor action.

The committee's decision to invoke a court procedure rather than a formal house trial was expected to mean that a final showdown on the elderly physician's defiance will be postponed, possibly until after the November elections.

Apprehension had been voiced by some members that immediate drastic action against Townsend might serve to make him a "martyr." It was also pointed out that a house trial would force a probably lengthy delay in adjournment.

Lyon was awarded the title by Chairman John Mitchell a few days ago when he was the only member appearing at a graduation program of county hospital nurses.

Yesterday, after the WPA sewing class had entertained the supervisors at lunch, and Supervisor West was accused by his fellow members of monopolizing attention of the fair hostesses, Lyon demanded a showdown.

"West is it," he insisted. "Here, with hand him the belt. I don't want anything that doesn't belong to me. Obviously this is a case where."

Dixie Castle Cafe Plans Celebration

Marking one year in business on 101 highway, the Dixie Castle cafe will hold an anniversary party tonight, according to Mrs. Rose Helm, who operates the resort.

Mrs. Helm said that in addition to serving her famous steak and chicken dinners and southern cooked meals there will be dancing to the tantalizing music of the Dixie Castle band. An unusual program of entertainment has been arranged she said.

Local Briefs

None was injured at 5 o'clock last evening as cars driven by A. J. Shannahan, 38, Emily street, Anaheim, and James Simms, about 45, of 1237 South Van Ness, Santa Ana, collided at the intersection of Manchester boulevard and Orange highway, half a mile south of Buena Park, according to a report to California highway patrol officers.

Police News

Fifteen-year-old Ralph Conner, Route 4, Box 567, Santa Ana, Garden Grove school boy, who disappeared from his home last night riding a bicycle, was being sought by sheriff's officers today at request of his sister, Thelma Conner. She reported he may have gone to his father's home, 1208 West Fifty-Second street, Los Angeles. He is described as five feet, six or seven inches tall, weighing 135 pounds, having brown eyes and blond hair and wearing brown or black trousers; brown-grey tweed jacket; blue shirt; grey hat; white socks and black shoes.

Clyde Hill's "Hillbilities," winners of the 20-30 club attendance contest of the past three months, over Bob Schilling's "Bare Feet," joined with the Schilling-ites last night in a stag dinner and card party at Twenty Ranch Gun club. Thirty-five stags were present. The Schilling-ites paid the bill.

Thirteen sticks of dynamite, discovered among the weeds in Yorba Linda by weed cleaners, and reported to Sheriff Logan Jackson last night by Fred Earl, Yorba Linda automobile mechanic, were taken to county road department headquarters. Deputy Sheriffs Fred Swayze and Claude Potter investigated but where the explosives came from remains a mystery, they reported.

TOWNSENDITES TO PICNIC IN ANAHEIM PARK

A Mammoth Memorial Day Townsend Mass meeting which will be held in Anaheim City park Saturday afternoon and evening which will be attended by all the clubs of the county is announced today by Walter R. Robb, county organizer.

Capt. Russell R. Hand, Assistant Western Regional Director, will appear as chief speaker during an extensive program beginning at 6:45 p. m. His topic of discourse will be of deep interest to all the public as he will discuss "Townsend Politics."

A varied program of music and other entertainment will precede the speaking. From 4:30 to 6:00 p. m. in the picnic pavilion of the park delegates from over the county will enjoy a basket dinner. Delegations are also coming to the meeting from Pomona, Riverside, San Bernardino and Long Beach districts. The public is cordially invited to enjoy the evening program.

DEBATE TO FEATURE MEETING AT FORUM

Following a new method of procedure the Forum for Political and Economic Education will sponsor a debate tonight in the Unitarian church, corner of Eighth and Bush streets.

The subject for debate is "Who Shall Administer Relief, Federal Authorities or Local Agencies?" According to W. H. Blanding, chairman of the sponsoring committee, Terrance Halloran, director of the State Relief Administration in Orange county will uphold the federal government administration of relief. Howard Wood, secretary of the Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce, will defend proposals for local administration of all relief.

Following the debate there will be a period allotted to answering questions asked from the audience.

F.H.A. EXECUTIVE TO SPEAK FOR LEGION

All veterans, whether they are members of the American Legion or not, are invited to attend the meeting of Santa Ana Post No. 181, to be held tomorrow night.

George Rinehart, of the Federal Housing Administration, will be the speaker. Rinehart will explain the methods of home purchase under the Federal Home Loan department of the housing administration. The meeting was arranged for the benefit of veterans who are planning to use their bonus money for the purchase of homes.

Before the address by Rinehart the Santa Ana Legion Drum corps will appear before the membership and play the new numbers they are preparing for the competition in which the corps will enter during the State Legion Convention in Hollywood next August.

By HARRY GRAYSON

NEW YORK, May 27.—Robert Tyne Jones Jr., still has the most flawless swing golf ever has known.

In the past two Masters Tournaments, Jones has been the victim of the stumpy location of the pins.

These are the opinions of Willie Macfarlane, who beat the immortal Georgian in a playoff for the United States Open championship in 1925.

"Jones needs no alibi," says Macfarlane, the Seawane professional, "but just to answer the hundreds of people who have been asking me, 'What's wrong with Bobby?' I'll tell you why his scores in the Masters' Tournament have run higher than his everyday figures. Competitive tension is not the whole answer by a full brassie shot."

When Jones was making all those sub-par scores in friendly four-somes from back tees he was playing to holes out some place in the center half of greens—just as you find them on any course for everyday use.

"What happens when a professional tournament starts? The greens committee immediately decides that no bunch of professionals is going to show up their course by shooting in the 60s. The committee spots the pins in almost impossible places on the greens. They tuck them away around the corner. They stick them on the lip of a bunker. They plant them on a tricky downhill slope."

PERPLEXING PROBLEMS

"When they got through doctoring up the Augusta National links we contestants were lucky if we had three straight putts for the cup in an 18-hole round. "Barnstorming professionals can score pretty well despite such unfair pin locations, because they are accustomed to playing courses which are stiffened in this fluky fashion. They compete in medal play events the year round. They know that the committee is going to stack the cards, or rather the pins, against them."

Funeral services for Mrs. Limbough were held in Seattle, Wash., and were followed by cremation there.

BLACK LEGION OPERATING IN MANY STATES

An alleged ringleader in the cold-blooded shooting of Poole on May 12, looked up with interest as the argument progressed.

The 13th defendant named in the murder warrants, George C. Johnson, 73, was unable to appear at the hearing. His attorney charged he was confined to a receiving hospital as a result of "mistreatment" by police.

While the inquiry into the Legion centered on the court examination, Attorney General David H. Crowley hurried by motor car from Lansing to confer with McCrea, and to open a grand jury investigation of the Legion in Wayne county.

He said he would question McCrea about his alleged connection with the Legion.

"I want personally to learn the details of this thing," he said. Michigan Methodists, stirred into action by the widespread reports of terrorism practiced by the Legion, passed a resolution "vigorously opposing" the band's activities and seeking the cooperation of all law abiding citizens in the "elimination of these disintegrating and destructive forces."

The cult, whose oath and by-laws stamp it as anti-Catholic, anti-Jew, anti-Negro and anti-Communist, is "neither Protestant nor American," the resolution said.

McCrea was to continue his investigation of an alleged woman's auxiliary, disclosed in a conversation with A. F. Lupp, sr., reported to be state commander of the Legion.

Prosecutor Owen Dudley of Jackson county, whose grand jury investigation of the Legion's activities in that area has resulted in kidnapping warrants against five men, said many legionnaires have volunteered information about the flogging of Harley Smith, Norwell farmer, who sought to leave the organization after being forced to take its oath.

Smith said he recognized the voice of the man who administered the oath as that of Ray Ernest, former Jackson prison guard and one of the five named in the warrants.

Justice of the Peace Ernest J. Rogers, in charge of the Jackson inquiry, characterized it as "well on the road to success," adding that "victims are volunteering information now that it is apparent they will be protected."

Prosecutor McCrea refused to reveal what information he possessed in regard to Chicago and New York branches of the Legion, or to say what states now possessed active brigades of Legionnaires.

First intimation of the strength of the vigilante band whose terrorist activities are under investigation here, came as McCrea telegraphed a request for federal aid to Attorney General Homer S. Cummings at Washington.

"I have reason to believe that the activities of the Legion have included the hauling of bodies across state boundary lines, which is a federal offense," he added.

He explained that in the hundreds of reports of activities by the black robed bands had come the information that "many serious crimes have been committed in states, other than Michigan."

"Of course, I am unable to investigate these, and for that reason have sought the aid of the department of justice," he said.

County Planners To Hold Special Meet Thursday

Jules Markel, chairman of the Orange County Planning commission has called a special meeting of that group for tomorrow morning at 9:30 o'clock at the court house annex. Delegations from Costa Mesa, Newport and Sunset Beach will attend the meeting to discuss the proposed opening of Flower street.

CITY BARBECUE TICKETS BEING DISTRIBUTED

Tickets for the barbecue to be held in celebration of "50 years of progress" in Santa Ana, the evening of June 3, at Municipal Bowl, are being distributed on a regular schedule by 20-30 club members, it was announced today by Councilman Ernest Layton, member of the committee on arrangements.

Councilman Layton said: "Tickets are being distributed at the information desk in city hall until 5 p. m. with distribution to first comers as long as the tickets last. From 5 p. m. until 8:30 p. m., tickets will be distributed at the police station, Third street entrance of the city hall."

"For those who cannot apply during the above hours, a limited number of tickets will be available at the police desk from 9 a. m. to 12 noon on Sunday, May 31."

"It is necessary for the committee to know how many will participate in the barbecue. Therefore, it is earnestly urged that those inadvertently obtaining more than one ticket per person, return the excess to the city hall for redistribution."

Some 1000 tickets are available for general distribution to first comers, with approximately 1000 more going to special club members guests and to service club members taking part in the jubilee program. The program, to be announced tomorrow by Rod Bacon and Phil Brown, will include special entertainment acts to be staged by Santa Ana's service clubs.

FORBES PLACED ON TRIAL TODAY IN CAR DEATHS

Alexander Forbes, 49, of Anaheim, indicted by the county grand jury following the death of two Anaheim boys, David Schmidt, 9, and Hilton Schmidt, 11, in an automobile crash February 1, went on trial today before a jury in Superior Judge G. K. Scovel's court, charged with negligent homicide and drunk driving.

The morning session of court was devoted to selection of a jury. Assistant District Attorney James L. Davis and Deputy Clarence Sprague appearing for the state, and Leo J. Fris, former deputy district attorney, acting as counsel for the defense.

Chief of Police James Bouldin of Anaheim, was seated at the prosecution counsel table. Forbes was returning home from the Santa Anita race track on Saturday evening, February 1, when his car collided with a car driven by Elmer Schmidt of Anaheim, whose two young sons were killed. James Heffron, Anaheim sports editor, a passenger in the Forbes car, was seriously injured. The grand jury indicted Forbes on February 13.

NATURE INVENTOR OF REFRIGERATION

A pit, or a cave, a running brook, a bubbling spring, or snow and ice—all these have been used by men for the preservation of their foods. All combine the two essentials of coolness with moisture. The latter is particularly necessary because all foods that need to be kept cool are mostly water.

As the prevailing characteristic of the California climate is its warm, dry air, we can take a tip from Nature and arrange to keep our foods in a place that has the opposite qualities: coolness and moisture. The natural effect of cooling air is to drive out its moisture, and unless this is compensated for by natural means, much of the benefit of the coolness is lost. Nature's natural cooler is ice. Melting ice supplies the extra moisture that tends to be driven out of the cooled air. The combination is found only in modern air-conditioned ice refrigerators.

WAYNICK WILL FILED TODAY FOR PROBATE

Petitions to probate the will of the late Dr. Dean D. Waynick, Anaheim and Santa Ana agricultural leader, who was killed in a crossing accident at Stanton May 16, and to terminate his joint tenancy interest in the Waynick property, were filed in superior court late yesterday by the widow, Mrs. Bernice B. Waynick, 1908 North Flower street, Santa Ana.

Value of Dr. Waynick's estate was not definitely shown in the petitions but, while the probate proceedings involves property estimated to be worth "less than $10,000", the petition to terminate joint tenancy lists other extensive holdings in real estate, securities and cash.

Dr. Waynick, who built up a state-wide reputation and clientele as an expert in soil and tree management, headed the Association Laboratories at Anaheim, and actively led the movement resulting in the present state pro-rate law, left a large amount of stocks in utility corporations, investment concerns, insurance companies, oil, mining and other industries, besides blocks of stocks in such banks as the National City Bank and Chase National Bank, both of New York, and the Irving Trust Company, of New York; also fruit association stocks.

The value of these holdings was not stated. In addition the petition listed $7800 in notes, $5913 in cash, $967.51 in certificates of the Fruit Growers Supply Company, and real estate including the Santa Ana home in Floral Park, the 20-acre orange grove near Anaheim and three parcels of property at Laguna Beach.

The probate proceedings involved other property acquired by Dr. Waynick just before his death, which had not yet been bequeathed to him. The will made his widow sole heir.

MONTANA LAND FIRM DENIES PRISON REPORT

Officials of the Montana Land company, owners of considerable acreage in the eastern end of Orange county, today denied that they are negotiating with the state to sell a portion of their property to be used as a prison farm.

The company officials not only denied knowledge of the report which was revealed last night at the Midway City meeting of the Associated Chambers of Commerce but declared that they would refuse to consider any proposal to sell any part of their holdings for use as a prison site.

Howard Irwin, of Fullerton, reported, at the meeting, that he had been informed, in Los Angeles, that the land company is negotiating with the state committee on prison sites and had about completed the deal that would place the prison farm half in Orange county and half in Los Angeles county.

Questioned later Irwin declined to state the source of his information at this time, saying that he considered it from an authentic source. He did say that Clark Bomer, of the Montana Land company, is said to be the land company representative handling negotiations.

BICYCLE WILL BE AWARDED AS PRIZE

Some Santa Ana boy or girl, under 15 years of age will be made happy next month through the gift of a new bicycle from the Home Owned Business Association, according to J. C. Metzgar, secretary-manager of the organization.

The bicycle will be given to the boy or girl who turns in the largest number of Liberty Bell cards at the association office, 208 Moore building. The cards, filled with Liberty Bell stamps must be turned in not later than 10 a. m. June 20. The boy or girl turning in the second largest number of cards will receive 20 theater tickets.

THEFT CHARGES AGAINST PAIR ARE DISMISSED

After testimony at preliminary hearing before Justice D. J. Dodge of Costa Mesa this morning revealed "no cause whatever" for prosecution, grand theft charges filed against Brent T. Harding, 530 South Broadway, Santa Ana, and J. Dietzmann, Los Angeles, oil operators, were dismissed on motion of Deputy District Attorney J. Eugene Walker.

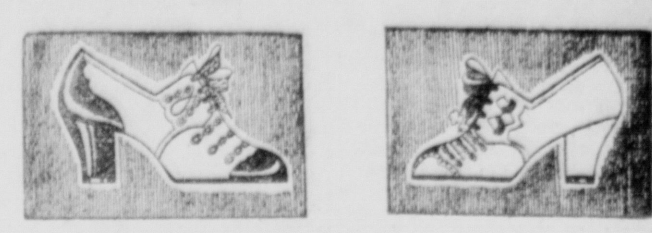

D. H. Wood, Los Angeles, owner of oil well equipment, was the complainant who said Harding and Dietzmann removed "3600 worth of equipment," including a portable drilling rig, from his Costa Mesa property.

"This is nothing more than a civil case, even if it is that," Deputy Walker declared in moving to dismiss.

Testimony revealed it was reported that Dietzmann had nothing at all to do with alleged removal of the equipment and that Harding was merely holding the equipment. Wood alleged was stolen, to guarantee return of similar equipment held by Wood and belonging to Harding. Harding declared Wood leased some of the Wood equipment to Harding's father, once deceased; that the younger Harding has been in possession of the equipment leased to his father and "am holding it merely to guarantee Mr. Wood's return of my property to me." John Loncke, Los Angeles deputy district attorney, was present and concurred in the dismissal action.

COUNTY ROOSEVELT WOMEN'S CLUB IN LUNCHEON MEETING

"The President of Democracy" provided subject yesterday for a thoughtful and analytical talk by Mrs. John A. Tamm, introduced as principal speaker at a county-wide luncheon for members and friends of the Roosevelt Women's club, staged in the Doris Kathryn Tea Shoppe. This event, plans for which were in charge of Mrs. Aldrie Worswick of this city, aroused so much interest that reservations were quickly exhausted, and many guests had to be turned away yesterday. Officers of the club, elected at the organization meeting last fall, were present including Mrs. C. C. Violett, Garden Grove, president; Mrs. C. E. Harbeson, Anaheim, vice president; Mrs. Stanley Clem, Santa Ana, secretary-treasurer; Mrs. E. E. Smith, Anaheim, program chairman, and Mrs. Worswick, Santa Ana, representative.

Short talks on the present political situation were given by Horace Head and Clyde Downing of this city, after which Mrs. Smith presented Mrs. Tamm, as special guest speaker.

Because of the fact that biography is one of the branches which she teaches at Santa Ana Junior college, Mrs. Tamm is well fitted to summarize the life and ideals of Thomas Jefferson, leading exponent of democracy in this country. In taking him as the basis for her fine address, she stressed the three points which his whole life and career emphasized.

The first of these was that governments must change to fit the growing needs and the changing ideals of a nation. The second point was the drawing by Jefferson of a sharp line between inherent or inalienable rights, and civil rights, inherent rights being maintained, and civil rights must change with economic changes and a variable background. The third point was that youth must be given its opportunity, for the interest of youth in the functioning of government, is a sign of a healthy government.

SONS OF UNION VETERANS ASK FOR FLOWERS

Contributions of flowers for use in decorating the graves of approximately 600 veterans for Memorial Day are being sought by the Sons of Union Veterans. A special request for blossoms is being made to school children who will bring their flowers to the schools on Friday. Members of the Sons of Union Veterans will collect the flowers during the day.

Persons with blooms that they are willing to donate are advised to contact J. R. Moore, 424 West West Santa Clara avenue. Millen may be contacted by telephoning 4294-W and will call for all floral donations.

Millen said today that the flowers will be collected early Friday morning and made into bouquets preparatory to decorating the graves in the cemetery early Saturday morning. Friday afternoon members of the Sons of Union Veterans will place flags on all the graves.

tions and outlining the history of the Democratic party in this country. Mrs. Tamm quoted from various books and publications, including the recently published biography, "The Living Jefferson" by James Truslow Adams.

AUFDENKAMPS SELL THEATER BUSINESS

LAGUNA BEACH, May 27.—Fred L. Aufdenkamp and son, Lynn, have sold their theater business here to South Coast Theaters, Inc., of which Roy E. Vincent of Santa Ana is president, it was announced today.

The firm has taken a long-term lease on both the old and new Lynn theaters. The Aufdenkamps retain ownership of the buildings. The new corporation takes possession next Sunday.

Ronald E. Vincent, son of Roy E. Vincent, is secretary and manager of South Coast Theaters, Inc., and Mrs. E. E. Vincent, L. Elmer Vincent and Marjorie C. Vincent, all members of the same family, are the other stockholders. Roy W. Peacock, local realtor, represented both sides in the deal.

The new Lynn theater was completed less than a year ago. Since it was opened the old theater, which was moved to a site on Ocean avenue above Coast boulevard, has not been in use. The Vincents announce that both theaters will be open during the summer, with the new building in operation throughout the year.

CUBS CLOUT CORSAIRS

The Pittsburgh Pirates have lost 13 of the last 15 games they have played against the Cubs in Chicago.

FRESH VEGETABLES WILL BE DISTRIBUTED TO HOLDERS OF SURPLUS COMMODITY CARDS

The Orange County Commodity Distribution Division announced today that arrangements had been completed to distribute fresh vegetables and apples to authorized holders of Surplus Commodity cards. A sufficient supply of these perishable goods is now available to issue a weekly supply to each client. The vegetables received for this distribution are produced in the WPA gardens in the Southern California area, and shipped by truck to the various counties for distribution.

Persons holding a commodity card should call regularly each week in order to assist the division management in gauging the quantity of produce necessary to complete an efficient distribution and to place the perishable goods in the hands of consumers in the best possible condition.

In addition to this seasonable fruit and vegetable distribution, the regular monthly allotment of canned, dried, and preserved goods consisting of dried beans, rolled oats, dried peas, dried figs, and canned beef, are also available.

Wearing apparel and other items produced through the local WPA Sewing Units are also being distributed under order from the various authorized Social Service agencies. Approximately 17,000 units of clothing and household articles are being distributed monthly.

A shoe repair service has been established, enabling clients on direct relief rolls to have their shoes completely and efficiently repaired.

TEXAS HAS CAMEL MYSTERY, BEAUMONT, Tex. (UP)—Residents are discussing the possibility that camels once roamed the Texas coastal plains. Margie Ruff, 32, while playing on the sands at High Island, found a petrified bone which has been identified as part of a camel's foot.

NEW DISHWASHER AID TO HOUSEWIFE

"If a man had to do the housework, the home would be equipped with as much modern, labor-saving equipment as possible," says Bess Meala, home service director for The George Belsky Company, Ltd., Southern California distributor for General Electric home appliances.

"For instance, if the husband had to wash the dishes, three times a day—and more than a thousand times a year—he would soon find that the drudgery of dishwashing is the bugbear of the home," she says. "It is the one non-constructive, constantly recurring task which mocks the intelligence of every modern woman."

"The electric dishwasher represents the culmination of years of painstaking experimentation to perfect a simple, efficient electrical method of dispensing with this age-old, most disagreeable and monotonous task of all household duties."

Styling of the modern dishwasher, she adds, is influenced by the trend to build-in all major kitchen units. The individual dishwasher and the dish-washer sink models are of all-steel construction and are designed to provide maximum cupboard and drawer storage in the minimum floor space required for installation. The washing compartment of the appliance has an extra large capacity. It will handle in one washing a complete dinner service for eight people, accommodating eight pieces of china and glassware, plus the silverware. For small families of three or four, dishwashing need be done only once a day and twice a day is sufficient for the family of five or six. Dishes, cups, glasses, silverware and utensils may be placed in the dishwasher after each meal and washing postponed until a full load is accumulated. Wilson & Hill are Santa Ana agents.

Mt. Whitney Road Will Be Dedicated Next Sunday

12-MILE ROUTE IS 14 FEET IN OVERALL WIDTH

The Lone Pine-to-Mt. Whitney highway, just completed, will be dedicated Sunday, at the upper end of the 12-mile route, it was revealed by plans announced this week.

The new road is a smooth, modern one which reaches to the nearest point at the base of the mammoth mountain that ever may be reached by a motor car. Leading to a new recreation park and Lone Pine Falls at the 8300-foot elevation at its terminus, the road follows Lone Pine Creek, through the fascinating jumble of the Alabama Hills, revealing magnificent panoramas at every turn. At several points Mr. Whitney's jagged upper tip stands out in bold relief.

The dedication exercises which will be attended by many state officials, district authorities, scores of interested residents of the area, members of the California Newspaper association on tour of the valley, Automobile Club of Southern California representatives and others, will be held in the recreation park.

The new more direct road extending about four miles farther toward the summit than the old route was built by CCC forces under U. S. Forest Service guidance. It was under construction about two years. Considerable blasting and heavy work was required to complete the scenic thoroughfare. It has a uniform width of fourteen feet, with numerous turnouts, and is evenly graded but not oiled. Average grade is not over 8 per cent, and the steeper section is negotiated with three switchbacks.

CARS SHOW POPULATION

It was found that the average density of the nation's automotive population, based upon preliminary reports of 1935 motor vehicle registration, is 4.83 persons per motor vehicle. In 12 states and the District of Columbia, where gasoline tax rates do not exceed 3 cents per gallon, the average density is 4.11 persons per vehicle. However, in 28 states with gasoline tax rates of 4 to 5 cents per gallon, there are 4.86 persons per motor vehicle, and in eight states with gasoline tax rates of 6 cents or more there are 7.61 persons per motor vehicle.

FIRES BLAMED ON HUNTERS

Because of the hazard to Southern California wooded areas, thoughtless hunters are scored for using fire control water tanks for targets, in a report of county foresters recently. More than a dozen holes made by high-powered rifle bullets had to be welded recently in tanks located in Bouquet, Mint and Placita canyons.

OLDSMOBILE PUSHES SAFETY CAMPAIGN

Scores of cities throughout the nation will join in the safety campaign now under way by Oldsmobile, according to C. O. Knox Brothers, local Oldsmobile dealers. A 55-car fleet of Oldsmobiles has been turned over to police departments of large American cities, 30 cars of which are pictured below, ready for New York City's safety parade. Closeup shows Voice of Safety car with special loud speaker used in advice-giving to New York drivers; inset shows Oldsmobile President C. L. McCuen, presenting keys of 24-car fleet to Commissioner H. A. Pickert, Detroit police department.

FORD EMBLEM HELPS BUYER

Pictured below is an interested buyer, inspecting the "Renewed and Guaranteed" specification tag now displayed on used cars by Ford dealers—picture furnished by George Dunton, local dealer. The trademark, "R and G," means that used cars sold by Ford dealers under this emblem have met rigid specifications as to mechanical conditions and appearance on money-back guarantee basis.

3000 MEN JOIN PONTIAC'S SERVICE CRAFTSMEN CLUB, LETTER TO LILLARD SHOWS

Word received this week by A. C. Lillard, Santa Ana Pontiac dealer, shows that more than 3000 mechanics, shop foremen, service salesmen and service managers among Pontiac dealers of the nation have enrolled for membership in the select group known as the "Pontiac Service Craftsmen."

"Pontiac Service Craftsmen are the service employees of dealers who take pride in executing every service job to the best of their individual abilities," says Lillard. "Some 2000 of them have qualified for full membership during the first two months of the organization's existence by subscribing to and complying with the terms of the 'Service Integrity Code' and by making at least an 80 per cent grade on the first three written examinations."

"To become a Pontiac Service Craftsman in good standing an applicant for membership must: (1) maintain a continuous examination average of 80 per cent or better for each 6-month period; (2) attend all factory service schools; (3) live up to the Pontiac service integrity code and (4) remain in the employ of a Pontiac dealer."

"To reward the men who earn the right to this service craftsman distinction, the Pontiac Motor Co. gives to each individual a provisional service craftsman card at the end of the first six months."

"The high standard of work performed by men of the craftsman type has been a large factor in maintaining the goodwill of Pontiac owners through the years and the importance of this type of men to the success of Pontiac is fully realized."

POSTMAN UNSUNG HERO
WILMINGTON, Del.—(UP)—Louis L. Lehan claims the title of "The most-dog-bitten postman-in-America." He has been snapped at a score or more times and all told has suffered 14 dog bite wounds. "Wouldn't it be swell if the government awarded stripes for each dog bite," muses Lehan.

"OLDS" AUTOISTS IN SAFETY DRIVE

With the greatest and most enthusiastic owner response in its history, Oldsmobile ended its first month of National Safety Inspection for 1936 with the beginning of May. It was the third safety drive in three years, according to E. N. Knox, of Knox Brothers, local dealer.

More than 115,000 motorists, the majority of them, owners of Oldsmobile cars, accepted the invitation of Oldsmobile dealers everywhere to have their cars inspected on six vital safety points, according to incomplete returns from 22 states. Reports from the missing states will swell this number considerably. Objective of the two months' campaign is 300,000 safety inspections cars.

The six vital points on which safety inspections were made were: brakes, tires, lights, horn, steering and windshield wiper. All are important elements in mechanical car safety and safer driving.

"The 115,000 inspections," said Knox, "proved beyond a doubt that our cars were so sturdily built that they handily overcame the most difficult and punishing driving conditions to which the modern automobile has yet been subjected."

from an extensive trip throughout the southwest.

Adopted by Ford dealers everywhere, the R and G plan is based upon the theory that the public wants to know the facts before they buy.

"The car purchaser is the judge of the car's quality," Groves said. "After purchasing, he may drive it two days, putting it to any driving test he wishes. If the car fails to measure up to expectations and is not as represented, the buyer may return it to the Ford dealer, and have his money refunded in full."

"In addition, the purchaser receives a written service warranty as a further protection. This double guarantee removes the elements of doubt and uncertainty that have troubled buyers of used cars for years."

CHRYSLER PLANT SCENE OF MOVIE

The recently released M-G-M feature, "Speed," contains numerous authentic "shots" of automobiles in the making, according to announcement of O. R. Haan, Santa Ana's Chrysler dealer, today. "A generous portion of the picture has the Chrysler factories in Detroit as the locale, where motion picture directors and camera men spent two weeks obtaining a realistic background," Haan declared. "The 'shots' were filmed during regular working hours and only the portion of the film where the principals were present is different from the regular routine. Other portions of the film were taken at the speedway in Indianapolis."

The picture, "Speed," has to do with the career of a tester for a big automobile factory and is packed with thrilling action. James Stewart plays the tester, with Miss Wendy Barrie as the "only girl." Other principals are Una Merkel, Ted Healey, Ralph Morgan and Weldon Heyburn.

The 1936 De Luxe Eight 4-Door Sedan, $815*

Reserve all judgments of eight performance until you drive this car

AFTER ALL, the smoothest eight is the eight you want. So make no decision until you drive the Pontiac. For Pontiac has no vibration point at any speed—due to incredibly accurate balance of rotating parts, a short-stroke crankshaft with overlapping bearings, and the harmonic balancer introduced by Pontiac.

You'll learn about smoothness from the Pontiac Eight—and that's not all! The fast, sure action of Pontiac's big, triple-sealed, hydraulic brakes will be another revelation. So will the comfort of the spacious "Turret-Top" Fisher Bodies. Economy, too, is amazing. Under official supervision, the Pontiac Eight has delivered 22 miles to the gallon. These are facts. Now test them out. Drive the Pontiac Eight for just ten minutes and prove that your search for super-smoothness is over.

DODGE WORKERS ARE BENEFITED BY AIR SYSTEM

An air-cleaning system costing over a quarter million dollars and handling 750,000 cubic feet of air per minute has been put to work in the foundries of the Dodge division of Chrysler corporation, at Detroit, according to L. D. Coffing, local Dodge representative, today.

In its layout, the Dodge air-cleaning plant includes a series of booths, hoods, enclosures and openings placed where excessive dust or smoke are produced in foundry operation. These openings connect with ducts leading to collectors and separators. Here the air is passed through water which picks up the dust and conveys it to a pumping system.

In withdrawing the air for washing, 32 powerful suction fans are used, requiring 1200 horsepower for their operation.

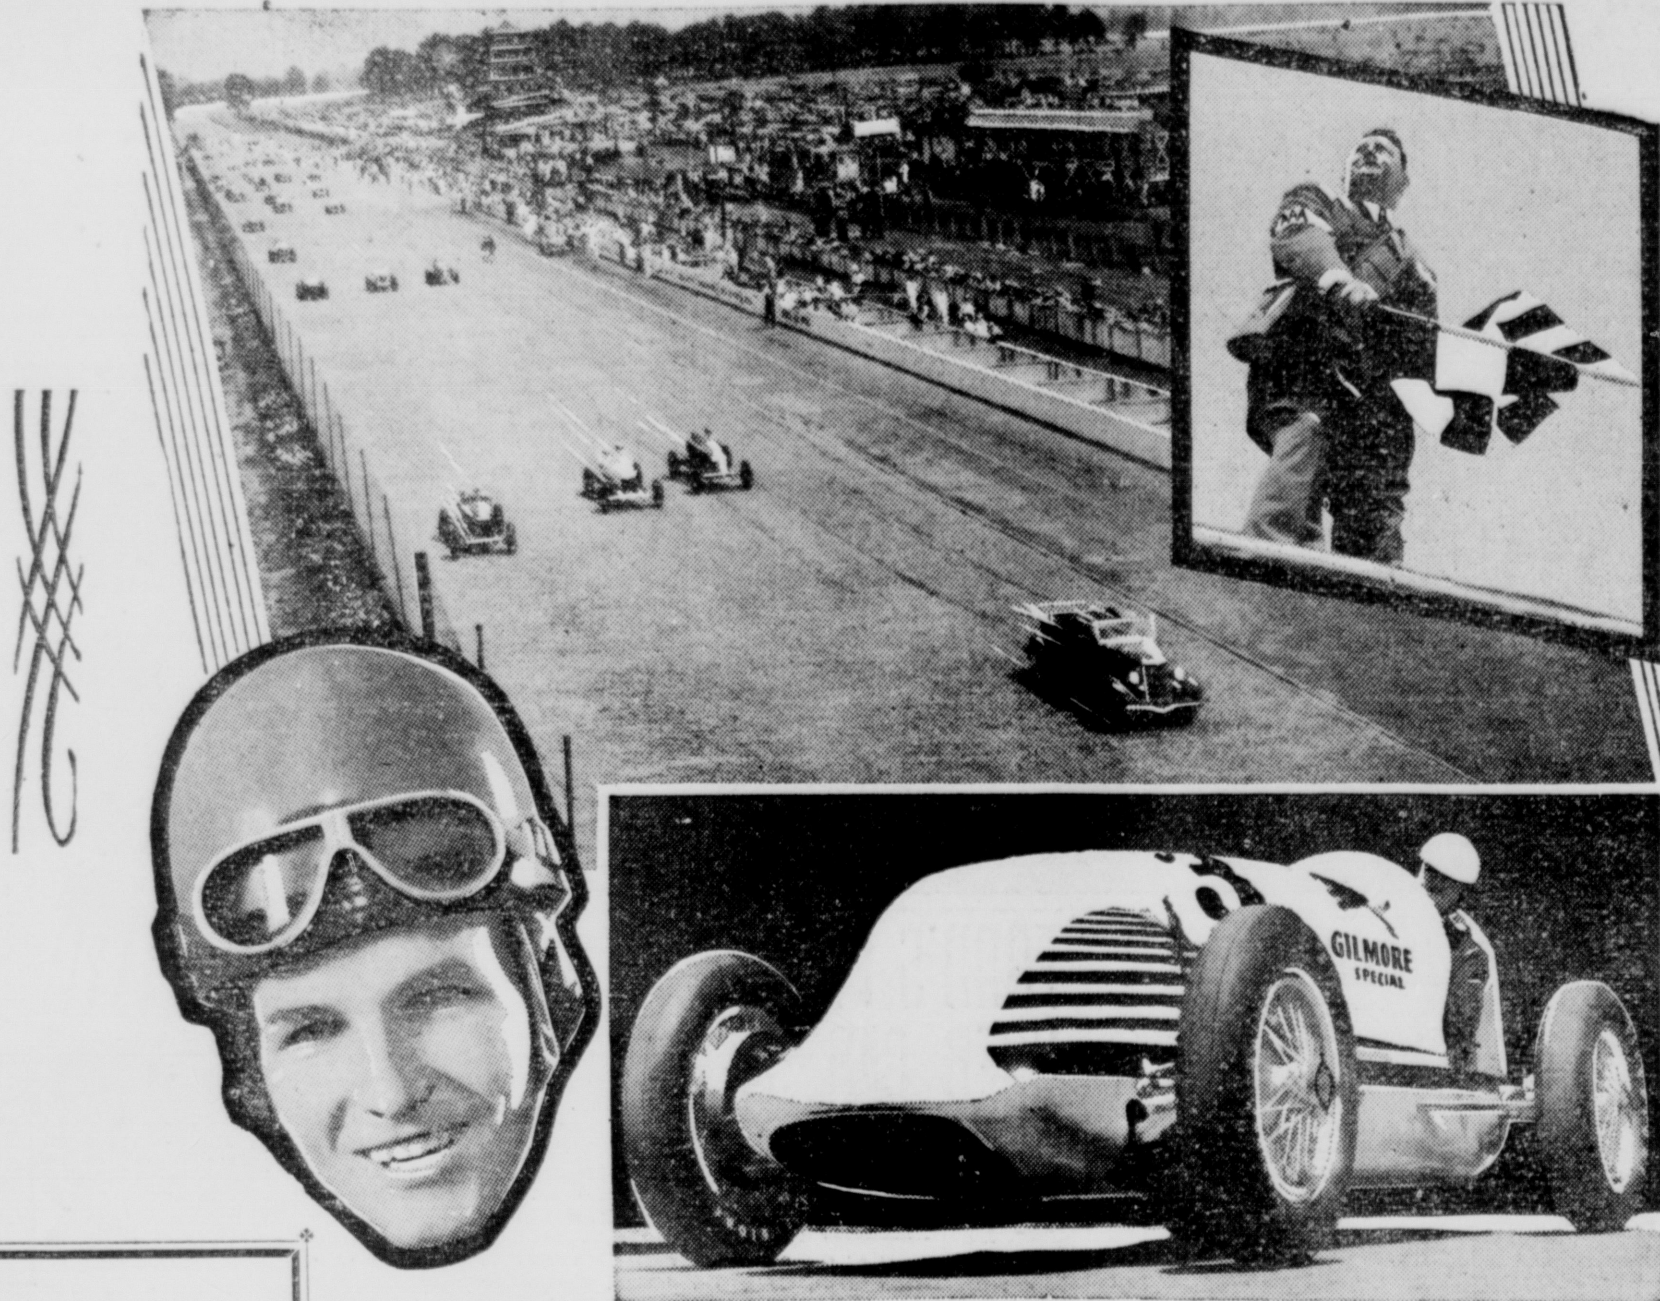

The remarkable efficiency claimed for the new Dodge air-cleaning system is said to be due principally to the fact that dust and dirt, once removed from the foundry, are isolated so thoroughly that they do not enter the air again.

BE PESSIMISTIC, PLEASE

It pays to be a pessimist when it comes to driving automobiles, according to the Automobile Club of Southern California. As such, drivers are less apt to become involved in traffic accidents. Optimistic motorists are usually overconfident, taking safety too much for granted. Such folly is nearly always the result of years of careful driving without an accident, lulling operators into a sense of false security.

RECORD SMASHERS READY FOR INDIANAPOLIS RACE

On Saturday, Decoration Day, 33 highly tuned up racing cars and 33 skilled drivers will start at the drop of a flag in the historic 500-mile Indianapolis speed classic. The limitation of the A. A. A. rules this year, prohibiting the use of more than 37.5 gallons of gasoline, will not bother Wilbur Shaw's Gilmore special, pictured below at lower right, which attained 154 miles per gallon of Gilmore gasoline at an average speed of 117.503 miles per hour in qualification. At lower left is pictured 23-year-old Rex Mays of Glendale, Calif., a favorite, who won the pole position for Saturday in traveling 119.644 miles per hour in his Gilmore Special No. 33 at the qualifying trials; a victory will mean $50,000 to the victor. Upper right, Seth Klein, veteran A. A. A. chief starter, is holding the checkered flag which goes to the winner as a souvenir trophy.

LOCAL HUDSON MEN SAYS NEW RECORD REPORT BIG GAINS IS DUE SATURDAY

For the week ending May 16, retail sales of Hudsons and Terraplanes showed a gain of 47 per cent over the same period in 1935, according to Christianson and Ryan, local Hudson-Terraplane dealers, this week. Official registration figures for the first four months of 1936 indicate a gain over last year of 17.2 per cent for the industry generally and a gain of 24 per cent for Hudson-built cars, they reported.

"Our sales to the public for the first 15 days of May totaled over 7000 cars. This exceeds any corresponding period for six years and is very close to the mark set seven years ago. A gratifying fact, and one which is significant of the strength of the automobile business this year is the fact that sales for the first two weeks of May are practically equal to those of the first two weeks of April, generally the peak month."

The Indianapolis speedway record of 106.24 miles per hour will be broken Saturday, according to an opinion voiced today by 16 super-drivers who attended the second annual meeting of the Champion Spark Plug company's "100-Mile-an-Hour" club.

"People can't imagine how much faster and smoother the track is this year," declared Dave Evans, president of the club. "This winner this year will average well over 110 miles per hour for the 500-mile event, I think."

Four new members, who qualified during the 1935 race, were received into the charmed club circle. The four who drove the 500 miles without relief and averaged better than 100 miles an hour were Kelly Pettillo, 1935 Memorial Day winner and National AAA champion, "Doc" MacKenzie, Eastern AAA champion; Floyd Roberts and Chet Miller. The new members were presented with certificates and engraved membership pins.

Bishop Stewart Has Driver's Decalogue

The Decalogue for the "safety first" driver has been compiled by Bishop George Craig Stewart of the Episcopal church, and announced this week by the Automobile Club of Southern California. The "Ten Commandments" for motorists are:

1. Thou shalt keep "safety first" ever before thee.
2. Thou shalt not make of thyself a dangerous nuisance, nor the likeness of anyone that grabeth the road beside and the road ahead and cutteth in and out of line. Thou shalt beware of such and slow up for him and look out for him, for he is a wild and zealous fellow visiting the iniquity of his follies upon the children in school zones from generation to generation and showing off unto thousands of his betters who are trying to keep the commandments.
3. Thou shalt not take the laws of the state in vain, for the cop and the judge will not hold him guiltless that taketh the laws in vain.
4. Remember the brakes and tires, and take curves slowly.
5. Honor the red lights and the green lights, and thy days may be long in the land which the Lord thy God giveth thee.
6. Thou shalt not kill.
7. Thou shalt not stop abruptly.
8. Thou shalt not steal—past a street car, loading and unloading.
9. Thou shalt not flash big lights against thy neighbor.
10. Thou shalt not shove it—thy neighbor's car, nor his fenders, nor his bumper, nor his locks, nor his glass, nor anything that is thy neighbor's.

REPORT TO GORDON SHOWS SALES HIGH

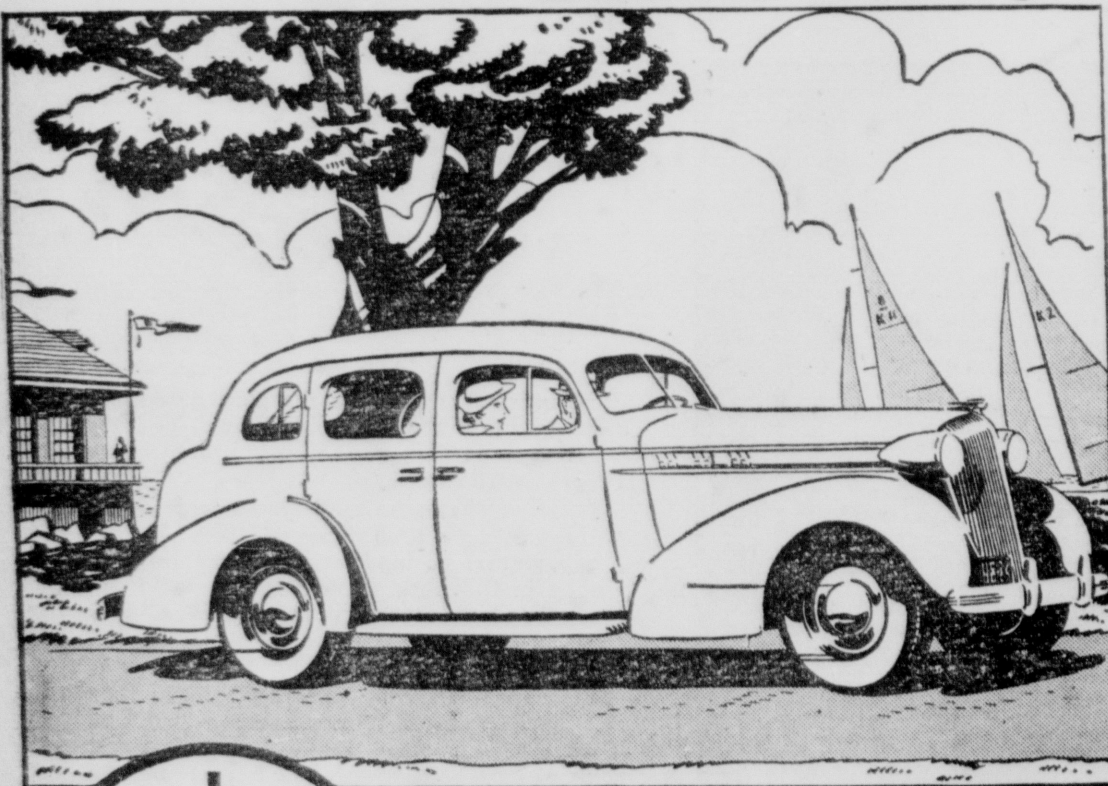

The first 10 days of May show a continuation of the heavy retail volume experienced since the middle of the first quarter for Buicks, according to a statistical report furnished W. R. "Stormy" Gordon, Reid Motor company head and Buick representative here, this week.

During this period domestic retail deliveries of Buick motor cars totaled 4903 units, comparing with 2100 cars delivered in the corresponding period a year ago, a gain of 2803 sales or 133.5 per cent, Gordon says. The figure compared with 3237 cars delivered in the first 10 days of April and with 3247 cars delivered in the corresponding period of March.

Meanwhile, the company entered the current month with more than 12,000 unfilled orders. Sales in the first reporting period of May brought total sales of Buick motor cars since the first of the year to 52,437 units as compared with 23,131 in the corresponding period a year ago. Since their introduction last fall, domestic retail sales of 1936 Buicks have aggregated 97,163 units.

LIST OF PUZZLING TRAFFIC QUESTIONS ANSWERED THRU CONTACTING HIWAY PATROL

Received by Capt. H. C. Mehan, head of the Orange county unit of California highway patrol, today, the following questions were submitted by puzzled motorists and the answers given by Chief E. Raymond Cato of the highway patrol, whose headquarters are in Sacramento.

Question: Does the law require me to use the headlamp dimmer of my car when approaching another automobile?—G. L. Answer: There is no law to compel you to dim your headlights by tilting the ray downward when approaching another vehicle, but the practice of doing so is commendable in that it will do much to prevent accidents from glaring headlights. The practice of dimming headlights rapidly is becoming the most popular of courtesies of the road and more than likely the practice some day will become compulsory.

Question: What is the meaning of "BE PC" on the registration number plate of a motor vehicle?—J. K. Answer: The letters "PC" indicate that the vehicle is pneumatic tired and registered for "commercial" purposes. The letters "BE" indicate that the vehicle is being operated outside of incorporated districts for transportation of persons or property for compensation and is subject to a gross receipts tax levied by the "board of equalization."

Question: Does the law require me to stop my automobile when I approach a school bus that is standing on the highway for the purpose of picking up children passengers?—F. G. Answer: Yes. Question: What are the regulations for turning a vehicle in streets?—V. M. Answer: Business district: No vehicle shall be turned so as to proceed in the opposite direction, except at an intersection. Residence district: No vehicle shall be turned so as to proceed in the opposite direction when any other vehicle is approaching from either direction within 200 feet, except at an intersection.

RECORD SET BY ASSOCIATED

"Cannonball" Baker, the automobile speedster from 'way back, is pictured below, filling up at the service station of a "Smiling Associated dealer," about the time he set a gasoline economy record between Vancouver, British Columbia and Agua Caliente, Mexico. As R. W. Townsend, local Graham dealer, would have you know, he's using a Graham Crusader sedan in the record run which netted him an average gasoline consumption of 28.15 miles per gallon. And every bit of the "gas" used was Flying "A"; and all of the oil was Cyclo Motor oil.

CUMMINGS LIKES 'HARLEY'

Sometimes it's a record-breaking car he drives and sometimes it's a record-breaking Harley-Davidson motorcycle. That's "Wild Bill" Cummings, seen below, on a white and chrome-plated 61-inch overhead valve Harley-Davidson. "Wild Bill" is one of America's outstanding auto racers who will be seen in action on the track at Indianapolis Decoration Day—which is Saturday. "Wild Bill" won the classic in 1934 and came in third last year. He's just about what his name implies.

SAFETY ADVICE IN USING TIRE OFFERED AGAIN

The same story may be told more than once if important enough, according to W. T. Sebelie, manager of Goodyear Service, 200 South Main street, Santa Ana, in a statement this week. Early summer is the time of year when the Goodyear organization starts emphasizing safety to motorists.

"Some drivers tell me they've heard the story before, but the same old story, when it comes to safety first, relates of some mighty important facts. Briefly, the story is this: Motorists should pay particular attention to tires when they check over their cars for spring and summer driving. If tires have worn smooth, they should be replaced.

"There are many reasons for this—of which safety is paramount. Old, smooth, worn tires first of all offer no positive traction when a sudden stop must be made on a wet street or highway. "Remember that brakes will stop your wheels, but it is the tires that must stop your car. Smooth tires skid at a time when quick stops may be imperative—and skids often result in bad accidents. Then, too, old, worn tires do not offer the protection against blowouts that new tires provide. "New tires, such as Goodyear G-3 All-Weather, with its gripping diamond blocks that give the utmost traction and protection against skids, and whose heavy carcass resists blowouts, are the best insurance against road delays and possible accident any motorist can have," Sebelie concluded.

LEAKY WATER PUMP SPOILS FREE CHECKUPS SUMMER TRIP ON TIRE WEAR

If your car is a chronic boiler, don't overlook the water pump, advises Curtis H. Vaught, of the Harry Harlow Automotive service, today. "Wear and corrosion in the water pump unit is frequently the cause of overheating," Vaught declared, "and such troubles should be remedied before they begin ruining your beautiful driving days of the coming summer. "The fact that the water pump does not leak is not always an indication that the pump is in good condition. Examination is usually made when the motor is stopped due to the flexible packing leaks badly when in operation will not show any visible leaking when stopped due to the flexible packing gripping the shaft. "Worn bearings will allow the shaft to whip slightly when in operation, allowing air to be drawn into the pump due to the suction created by the action of the impeller. Air in the cooling system causes further troubles. "A few indications of water pump troubles that the car owner can detect are: Leaking around the packing gland; low water mileage after a repack; leaking when running fast but apparently dry when stopped; an in and out move of the shaft when the motor is speeded and slowed; quick warm up of the engine."

Featured as a part of the Goodrich Tire & Rubber company war now being waged, nation-wide, against unsafe tires, the Goodrich Silvertown store, First and Broadway, is offering Orange county motorists free tire inspection this week and for some weeks thereafter, according to Manager Orval Lyon. "Goodrich, a pioneer in many movements to provide greater safety on American roads and highways, has asked its dealers to make expert examination, free of charge, of all tire equipment brought into services for that purpose," Lyon pointed out. "More than 36,000 persons were killed and over 800,000 injured in traffic last year, records show, and 388,000 have died in traffic accidents during the past 15 years—which means more died in traffic during that time than through the nation's participation in four major wars. "Every year, thousands are killed or injured when blowouts throw cars out of control at high speeds. It is possible for our trained men to detect the points of future

WEED ORDINANCE ADOPTED BY BOARD

HUNTINGTON BEACH, May 27.—The city council adopted the weed nuisance ordinance at its meeting Monday night and instructed the superintendent of streets to carry out the provisions of the measure. City Attorney Ray Overacker was not ready to report as to the legality of tango and asked for more time which was granted to him. He will report at the meeting next Monday night. There were five applications for tango games in addition to two that have already been presented to the council. No action was taken on any permits, nor will any action be taken until after the council adopts or rejects an ordinance on the matter. Those applying for licenses were H. B. Carr, Trus M. Cryder, L. F. Kelley, M. M. Waterman, E. O. Smith and W. S. Ebert.

CADILLAC SERIES 60

When Cadillac presented the new V-8, Series 60, there was genuine news in the announcement. For the Series 60 offered the proverbial Cadillac advantages in engineering, performance and quality—yet it was especially designed for the personal use of its owners. But the most arresting revelation of all was the price—for the Series 60 carries the lowest price for a Cadillac car in more than twenty years. Low price alone is never news. But when so low a price is combined with so much quality—price becomes news of the first importance.

THE PERSONAL COLUMN

Bill Cook and his Santa Ana Dons can have their old black gaudy pants and their red and black jerseys.

Sammy Saint is going to stick with his traditional red and white ensemble.

Not to be outdone by junior collegians though, the high school will lay in a supply of new football jerseys next fall. Coach Bill Foote, a wee bit mysterious, says they'll probably be a two-time job with red neck and shoulders.

They say the "Man Mountain" Deans (he's the rasser) are cradle-shoppers.

All-American Larry Lutz is crating lettuce at Salinas now that the University of California's term is over. He'll help coach the Bear fresh in the fall.

Sid Ziff, Jewish sports editor of the Herald-Express, looks all of 40 but claims he's only 31.

One of the major tobacco companies will be broadcasting Pacific Coast and all other important football games as soon as present contracts expire. They are willing to pay plenty for the privilege.

The reason "Chico" Sabella isn't softball-pitching this summer isn't because he's all washed up. It's because none of the clubs can or will meet his price—which is $20 a game.

City league wiseheims claim their rules are full of loopholes, that almost anybody is eligible if the boys want to cut the corners. The Commercial Nationals, for instance, are jointly sponsored by the First Congregational church, and anybody who joins or attends church is o. k. Likewise, Kenny Miller says he can make anybody eligible for his Elks team by making them lodge-members and there are ways and means of doing that.

They're simply cur-crazy about Lyle Morse up in Porterville. After he had pitched the Reds to a 3-1 victory over Visalia, striking out 16, the fans took up a collection for Morse. The purse amounted to nearly $15.

Floyd Blower now frankly admits that he no longer gets a thrill out of playing football and will be darned glad when he has written the last chapter to his checkered career. One injury after another has soured the kid. The California back may get out of the summer at his home here. He still would pass up the last year of eligibility if he could land a good job.

Softball scouts say that Ed Bristow, the Tustin prep pitcher, will go into one of the Los Angeles leagues when he winds up the Orange league season next week.

Wilson Seacord is pitching for a brewing company in San Diego.

Orange of the National League is signing up Mercedes Cruz, Mexican outfielder who is batting .750 against prep pitching and can go out and catch 'em too.

Jess Mortensen, Riverside's jay-ave football coach, is a Trojan good and true but they all say his Bengal grid graduates are going to U. C. L. A. instead of Troy. Incidentally, Mortensen suffers from hay fever and has a hectic time whenever he directs workouts.

Dave Meiklejohn of Pomona, a keen nightbal observer who knows the answers even if the Purples aren't in the American league this season, believes the boys made a mistake in not turning professional this spring. He points out that Los Angeles, gone daffy over the sport, is flocking by the thousands to exhibitions. Sez Scrivener Dave:

"The American and National leagues have been asleep at the switch. By turning out and out professional last year—and they are as professional as anyone would want—they could have kept their stars at home; because by announcing them as professionals they would have been technically barred on the Los Angeles circuits.

1935 VS. 1936 BATTLE SLATED AT POLY FIELD

Football railbirds get their first and last chance to pre-view Santa Ana high school's fall football fashions tomorrow when the "Aints" of '35 engage Coach Bill Foote's prospective 1936 creation in the school's annual This Year-Last Year game.

Scheduled for Poly field at 3 p. m., the contest concludes the pre-season spring practice for an indefinite period as the Southern C. I. F. has voted out such maneuvers, effective next year.

Santa Ana had its best football team in three years in '35 and the '36 gang, liberally sprinkled with underclassmen will have only the advantage of condition. They have been working out for several months whereas the "old-timers" refused to take the workout seriously and turned out only a few days ago.

Coach Foote will handle the '36 troupe and Assistant Coach "Pinkie" Greene the '35 delegation.

Coach Foote will handle the '36 troupe and Assistant Coach "Pinkie" Greene the '35 delegation.

Seven-minute quarters are probable. Foote said he would start Milton Smith and Larry Stump, two sophomores, on the ends. Bill Milligan, 210-pounds, and Ferris Wall will be at tackles. Lyle Moyer, a letterman, and Bob Maddock start at guard, with Don Warhurst at center. Smith, Stump, Maddock and Warhurst all have two more years of eligibility.

The backfield will line up with Ed Tucker at quarterback, Len Schilling at left half, Captain Smith at right half, and Bill Milligan at full. Musick will be a junior next fall, the others seniors.

Only change in the 1935 set-up finds Harold Short, who was a regular right end, moving into the backfield at "Whitey" Mann's spot at right half. Mann will not see action. Mac Beall will call the signals, with Carroll Joy at left half, Minoru Nitta at full.

Captain Edwin Yonel and Bill Semmacker will start on the wings. Bob Reid and Jim Crowther at tackle, Norman Garrett and Joe Crawford at guard, and Jack Robinson at center.

LINE-UP—If you will look into the Republican delegate situation through practical glasses, you will probably see a line-up today something like this:

Landon 253 more or less sure votes.
Favorite Sons 123.
Knox 94.
Borah 72.
Still unclassified, unselected or uncertain 459.

Necessary for nomination 501.

POWERS—

Breaking down the 459 unselected further, you would probably find the relative strength of two great influences hidden there about as follows:

Hoover, 116.
Hill-Roraback, etc., 198.
Scattered or possibly unaligned 145.

Note—These are only approximate estimates, but they will afford a fair working basis upon which the situation can be accurately figured if you will get out your pencil.

FUNDAMENTALS—

Arithmetic will prove that, if the Hill-Roraback, etc., strength goes to Landon, he will have 451. If only the Hoover-Knox strength goes to Landon, he will have 463. Landon plus the favorite sons, plus Borah equals 448.

Now, as a practical proposition, any politician knows that, if Landon ever gets within 50 votes of the nomination, he is as good as in. No handwagons have ever been stopped that near the finish line unless a far more bitter inside situation existed than does exist today.

Thus, the fundamental situation seems to be that Landon can get the nomination by a combination with any one of the three outstanding groups of his supposed adversaries.

ALTERNATIVE—

An equally reasonable combination shows Knox, with Hoover, could be nominated, by getting three favorite sons, and Hill-Roraback. This combination would give him 484. Plus Borah, it would amount to 556.

The line-up likewise shows that if Hill-Roraback, four favorite sons and Knox play ball for a dark horse, they will have a ma-

HEALTH TROUBLES AT AN END SINCE HE BEGAN GLY-CAS

Mr. Crawford's Former Strength and Energy Restored; Freed of Neuritis Pains; Entire System Toned After All Else Had Failed to Help Him.

"Gly-Cas cannot be compared with the ordinary medicines of today, for it gives DESIRED RESULTS," said Mr. E. W. Crawford, Tustin, Calif. (near Santa Ana), well known local gentleman who has lived here for the past thirty years, recently in talking with the Gly-Cas Man at the McCoy Drug Co., 108 West Fourth Street, this city.

E. W. CRAWFORD

"There is no need for suffering today since Gly-Cas can be had so easily," continued Mr. Crawford. "I had suffered so much with those sharp, stabbing neuritis pains in my neck, back, hands and arms that at times I felt I could not stand it any longer. My body was filled with poisons, felt sluggish most of the time, lacked the pep and energy to get about without an effort. Of course I was miserable in this condition but in spite of all the medicines I tried I could not find anything to help me—everything seemed to lose its power when put up against my case, until I began Gly-Cas. It seemed to give me the health Nature intended."

"Gly-Cas cleansed my system as it had never been cleansed before," continued Mr. Crawford. "and today I am feeling like an entirely different person. Gly-Cas has been worth everything to me yet I have just completed my third box. My former strength and energy has been restored, every ache and pain of neuritis has been driven from my body and I feel fine. I now have a good appetite, sleep fine and certainly do not hesitate to recommend Gly-Cas as the outstanding medicine of the modern day for ailments such as mine. The nice part about Gly-Cas besides the results it gives is that it does not gripe or nauseate as so many medicines do but does its work pleasantly as well as thoroughly. Gly-Cas simply contains that which other medicines lack and those who give it a fair trial will say the same thing."

So it goes—another case right here in this section where Gly-Cas accomplished the seemingly impossible.

Gly-Cas is sold by McCoy Drug Co., 108 West Fourth Street, this city, and by leading druggists in surrounding towns.

majority of 531 delegates. Plus Borah, their majority would amount to 603.

But the main point is that, while Landon can win with any one of his adversaries, everybody else needs a combination of two, three or more.

LINE FORMING—

Thus you have about the same situation on the inside now as when Hoover was leading the pack before the Kansas City convention of 1928. When any leading candidate can win by a deal with one of his adversaries, the adversaries generally scramble to be the one.

The reason is obvious. They want to be in on the party organization of the victor.

At Kansas City it was Senator Vard of Pennsylvania who shrewdly ran out on the Mellons and gave Hoover the votes he needed. Who will it be this time, nobody yet knows—for sure.

Note—This is not a condition peculiar to Republicans. The same situation developed in Chicago in 1932 when Roosevelt was nominated by the Democrats. At that time the Hearst-McAdoo jump was publicly supposed to have brought needed votes. In reality the arrangement was made here with Garner long before the convention, and out of it, Mr. Garner got the vice-presidential nomination.

WOOLING

President Roosevelt intends to rely on the subtle strategy of the "White House conference" to win his way back into the hearts of liberal and conservative voters.

Two weeks ago a procession of industrialists—Messrs. B. F. Young and Taylor—made mysterious visits to the White House. They came and went with an inscrutable smile on their lips, refusing all questioners to the President. It's a violation of etiquette for guests to disclose such secrets. Mr. Roosevelt was even more close-mouthed, but he gave the impression that he and the "big boys" were making up—again. Hence the barrage of reports that hostile interests are reconciled to Mr. Roosevelt's reelection.

Almost on the heels of these visitors there trooped into the upstairs study eight wild and woolly Progressives representing four different political parties. They spent four hours with FDR, then stole away with their fingers parked on their lips. They confide that they were "pledged" to say the affair had no significance, and that only "general matters" were discussed. And, strangely, that's the truth. It was a window-dressing party designed to convince radicals and liberals that FDR's heart beats for them as well as for the Wall Streeters.

CHICKENS

Mr. Roosevelt may have outsmarted himself. His partiality to Senate Progressives has alienated some of his strongest supporters in the House, who feel that they have been neglected.

There are about eighty Democratic and Republican liberals in the lower chamber. They demonstrated their loyalty and effectiveness in the terrific battle over the utility holding company law. They met every night to map the strategy for the next day, and some endangered their political lives. They have received no thanks or recognition for their sacrifices, and they don't like it. They resent FDR's exaltation of their senatorial conferees.

So far the bitterness shows itself only in muttering and sputtering in House cloakrooms and corridors. But if the G.O.P. narrows the margin of Democratic control next November, some of these political and social chickens may roost on Mr. Roosevelt's legislative doorstep if he is reelected. It won't be the first time that trivial slights, like Herbert Hoover's snub of Hiram Johnson, have touched off a political explosion.

URGENT

President Roosevelt's private consternation over Governor Herbert Lehman's abdication belies the halloo that high-up Democrats think the election is in the bag. No political development since he assumed office has so upset both Mr. Roosevelt and National Chairman Farley.

While there are those who question whether Mr. Lehman is an asset to the presidential ticket, the President believes that he needs the Governor as a running mate to insure holding New York's 47 electoral votes. There would not, of course, be such perturbation if the President felt sure of carrying both New York and the nation. Mr. Roosevelt has estimated his minimum electoral vote at 225, but loss of his home state would cut that figure to 218—or only 12 more than the necessary 266. That's too narrow a squeak for comfort.

Tacks No Terror to This Auto

Jerusalem is showing real ingenuity in meeting its newest traffic hazard. In the general strike which the Palestine Arabs are staging in their demand that Jewish immigration be halted, tacks have been scattered in all the principal streets of the ancient city, to halt traffic. Here is shown an auto equipped to overcome this obstacle. Brooms have been placed in front of the wheels to sweep up the tacks as the car moves along and the laughing crowd beside the machine seems to be confident that the innovation will work.

GOLD REDUCTION PLANT AND LABORATORY WILL LOCATE IN SANTA ANA; HILTON IN CHARGE

Mammoth gold "retrieving" equipment which will separate $5000 worth of pure gold from the concentrates every day, to be shipped directly to the United States mints, will be installed immediately at a downtown Santa Ana reduction plant and laboratory, according to reports received by The Register today.

It was also learned that N. H. Hilton, widely-known chemist and assayer of Santa Ana, has been named chief chemist in charge of the work. Hilton admitted the plant would be established here within a few days at a location near his own personal assaying laboratory, which is located at 105 West Third street.

The new reduction plant and laboratory, location of which will be announced as soon as President S. V. Windel of the North Star Gold Mining company, with offices in the Granite building, Hollywood, completes lease or purchase arrangements, will employ a chemist and four or five assistants, whose work is to be directed by Hilton. The reduction plant will be equipped with four reduction tanks capable of handling eight tons of concentrate ore regularly, on a schedule which permits completion of processing a ton of the concentrate every day, worth approximately $5000.

The North Star Gold Mining company chose Santa Ana as its location, it was reported, because of Hilton's residence here and because Santa Ana is centrally located between the two main gold deposits under control of the organization, one deposit being in the Mother Lode country and the other in San Diego county, near La Mesa.

"Fifteen million tons of 'pay dirt' are located in the San Diego district," the local assayer declared. "Steam shovels will be used in that district to dig out the gold deposits, located in comparatively soft ground, and the cost of taking it out probably won't run more than 35 cents per ton. The Mother Lode deposit, which is a hard rock, is in hard rock and blasting will be required to take out the ore; that cost will run $1 per ton. In the San Diego field, the gold will run $2.50 to $4 per ton; in the Mother Lode, $40 to $50 per ton."

Before being brought to the reduction plant here, the ore will be concentrated at a ratio of 1200 to one; that is, it will be processed in an Ainslie bowl at the San Diego field, 1200 tons of the raw gold and dirt being reduced to one ton, with only a 17 to 20 per cent gold loss in that process, per Hilton declared he is able to recover 95 per cent of the gold from the concentrate brought here, the tailing loss being revealed as about 72 cents per ton. The cyanide process, which calls for sodium cyanide because it is cheaper and more efficient than potassium cyanide, sometimes provided, will be used here.

For 48 hours, the concentrate, to be brought here by a fleet of trucks, will be soaked in a cyanide solution—30 pounds of cyanide per ton of water. Then it will be drawn through a filter composed of burlap sacks, run through zinc boxes so that the zinc may precipitate the gold. The cyanide consumption approximates eight pounds per two or three tons of concentrate washed in it, the remaining cyanide solution being pumped back into the tanks for re-use.

The trucks will haul the concen-

LIQUOR MEASURE PASSED BY BOARD

ANAHEIM, May 27.—Liquor drinking in public in Anaheim will be prohibited by the passage of a city ordinance first reading on Tuesday evening. Such action was taken principally to eradicate a condition at the corner of Center and Clementine protested by Ted Masterson at a recent meeting of the council.

The council agreed to submit an application to the county board of supervisors for $5000 to be applied to the relief of the property owners in assessment and improvement districts on Palm street and Center street despite the fact Supervisor LeRoy Lyon informally rejected the request for that amount a week ago.

A $2500 contract for lamps for the city was awarded H. N. White Hardware company after 17 bids had been considered.

600 PRESENT FOR PLACENTIA DINNER

PLACENTIA, May 27.—Nearly 600 Tuesday night attended the community barbecue, sponsored by the Pioneer brotherhood as the last meeting of the year. The evening was spent at games.

Dean Hasson, president, and his committees in charge of the affair served beef, roasted by John and Joe Wagner, Lawrence and Lewis Lemke, Frank Hill and Louise Swain. Others assisting were the field committee, Howard Hawkins, Superintendent A. P. Patten, E. Robbins, Roy Hale and Louis Jacobson; entertainment, Warren Bradford and Clyde Lowe; finance, S. C. Harmonie, Earl Everett and Cyril Collett; sports, Clarence Bishop, William Purdy and E. De Yonge, and publicity, Frank Rosapaw, John Crosby and N. Gaines.

PUPILS PRESENT ANNUAL RECITAL

FULLERTON, May 27.—The annual recital of Mrs. Harold Nielsen, teacher of organ and piano, was held Tuesday in the auditorium of the Christian church.

A large crowd attended the affair. Change Name Of School District

PLACENTIA, May 27.—After July 1, the official name of the Placentia Union Grammar School district will be Placentia Unified School district, according to official action of the board of trustees this week.

The new name also provides for a new set up, the principal change to be the handling of all school funds under one budget for the whole district.

For the election this year only one name has been filed, that of Lawrence Louke, the incumbent clerk. The election is June 5.

Members Added By R.N.A. Lodge

FULLERTON, May 27.—Viola Vaughan and Hubert Collins were elected to membership in the Fullerton Royal Neighbors of America lodge at a meeting Tuesday night in Odd Fellows' temple, where Mrs. Mabel Dalziel, orator, presided.

Mrs. Frances Iva Hurst Wells, recent bride of George Wells, of Los Angeles, was honored at a party that followed the business meeting, and was presented with a pottery plate.

JIMMY FIDLER in HOLLYWOOD

HOLLYWOOD:—For an afternoon or evening of dullness and disillusionment, I recommend the typical Hollywood "press party," so-called because the press is invited wholesale. The usual attendance is entirely devoid of worthwhile members of the Fourth Estate. "The press" that shows up at these affairs generously comprises writers for third-rate magazines, foreign papers, and small publications that subsist on five and ten dollar "ads" extracted from the movie folk. These, together with their wives and mothers and children and, I have suspected, uncles, aunts and far relatives.

Quite accidentally, I learned that Leslie Howard secretly provided funds for remodeling The Assistance League Home, one of the colony's most favorably regarded charitable enterprises. One of The League's features is a nursery where children of working women cessively boiled that the better writers, unwilling to be known as one of "the mob," refuse to attend these parties. It is also the reason that press parties are on the wane in Hollywood. Stars have discovered that the columnists and editors they really want to impress rarely arrive. Nowadays the stars are more clever; they entertain the press at small parties, inviting a hand-picked group of high-powered writers, who, assured of exclusive company, usually attend.

Quite accidentally, I learned that Leslie Howard secretly provided funds for remodeling The Assistance League Home, one of the colony's most favorably regarded charitable enterprises. One of The League's features is a nursery where children of working women may be "stored." Some seventy children find their way there daily, which gives you an idea of the kind of work being carried on. Scores of old or indigent actors also find food and work through the Assistance League. The task of remodeling and enlarging the headquarters so that more good work may be accomplished is no simple one. The estimated cost runs into several thousand dollars, and Leslie and Mrs. Howard very quietly underwrote the entire expense.

Perhaps you will derive a laugh from this amusing publicity item which arrived on my desk from Al Johnson's press agent. The puff refers to Johnson's tee-riffic yen for things flistic, and the proof is thus presented: "Monday nights, Johnson goes to Glendale. Tuesday nights, he goes to Olympic Auditorium. Wednesday nights Al visits Huntington Park. Thursday nights he haunts Jeffries' Barn. Friday nights he invariably goes to the Legion Stadium." Then comes this classic line: "Saturdays and Sundays Al spends with his wife's family."

SPANISH VETS PREPARE FOR MEMORIAL DAY

Completion of plans for observance of Memorial day, and installation of a new chaplain featured last night's session of Calumet camp, United Spanish War Veterans, held in Knights of Columbus hall.

In addition to the Memorial day plans members of the camp discussed the advisability of taking a concession at the Los Angeles county fair, and appointed a committee to raise funds for the department encampment and several new members were taken into the camp.

The membership was increased by the election to become members of Melvin McCord, of Santa Ana, and William L. Birch, of Huntington Beach; the re-instatement of John A. Gores and William R. Higgins, of Huntington Beach; Arthur E. Spaw, of Santa Ana, and Frank W. Chapman, of Costa Mesa, and the muster of Fred F. Vedder, of Laguna Beach; Arthur J. Lowell, of Balboa; Joseph T. Beeman, of Huntington Beach; James O. Tallman, of Costa Mesa, and Austin Griffiths, of Anaheim.

Among the many arrangements for Memorial day were the appointment of committees to assist Chaplain C. William Hannah in marking and decorating the graves of deceased comrades and other Spanish war veterans in the various cemeteries near Santa Ana; for assisting the flower committee of the Calumet auxiliary which will meet at the home of Adolph Erickson, 1041 West Sixth street, for that purpose and for the firing squad and bugler to assist the members of the Grand Army of the Republic at the monument in Fairhaven cemetery.

C. William Hannah who has been officiating as chaplain for the past month was regularly appointed to that position and duly installed. A vacancy in that position was caused by the resignation of Walter W. Tantlinger some time ago.

Senior Vice Commander Charles I. Reagan made a report to the camp on the Memorial services held last Sunday at the Ebell clubhouse by the Calvary church and there was a report from the recruiting committee of which Hanigan C. Moberly, junior vice commander, is chairman, that the goal of increasing the camp membership at least 40 members during this semi-annual term was within two members of that number with one month yet to go and with seven elected to become members—that have not been mustered into the camp.

Supervisors Ask Curb On County Medical Costs

COURTS URGED TO HELP STOP DRAIN ON FUND

The mounting costs of medical care for crippled children of the county sent to a Long Beach orthopedic clinic and surgeon, yesterday moved the county supervisors to ask cooperation of superior court judges in reducing this drain on taxpayers.

The judges, it was decided, will be asked in the future to see whether the necessary care can be given at the Orange county hospital, before authorizing the more expensive treatment in Long Beach.

Dr. Harry Zaiser, superintendent of the county hospital, consulted by the supervisors late yesterday, stated that in a number of cases the local hospital could care for the patient as well as the Long Beach clinic, at a small fraction of the expense to the county.

Supervisor N. E. West suggested that arrangements be made to call a certain Los Angeles orthopedic specialists on local cases, when necessary, the patients being kept in the local hospital.

Court Jurisdiction
Under present legal procedure, it was shown, the courts can and do authorize the admission of patients to the orthopedic hospital, the expense being a charge against the county. The bill is paid by the state department of institutions, which then collects from the county.

Because some "fancy" charges have been made in recent cases, and in view of Dr. Zaiser's statement that the county hospital is equipped to handle some of the cases as well as the outside hospital, the supervisors instructed District Attorney W. F. Menton to confer with judges of superior court on the question, and see if the judges would not first consult with Dr. Zaiser in each case, before authorizing outside treatment.

Dr. Zaiser disclosed that orthopedic cases are the only type that do not receive free medical and surgical care through the county hospital.

Delicate Operations
He told of two recent delicate surgical operations on local patients by Dr. Dickerson, Los Angeles neurologist and brain specialist, one removing a brain tumor and curing the patient of epileptic seizures, the other relieving a brain condition that had caused paralysis of a young girl, who is now restored to normal use of her limbs.

Dr. Elmer Belt, noted Los Angeles urologist, has frequently performed similarly fine services at the local hospital, said Dr. Zaiser. These specialists do not receive a cent for their work, he said.

Supervisor W. C. Jerome, while applauding this generous service, expressed fear of ultimate effects. "We are building up something that depends upon individuals, who may later drop out of the picture," he said, indicating that he feared it might be a trend toward socialized medicine, which he did not favor. That would be too heavy a load on the taxpayers, he said.

"PIXILATED" BEETLE BANE OF TELEPHONE MEN'S LIVES

By MALCOLM BOSTWICK

A sort of "pixilated" little beetle that prefers lead cable sheathing with arsenic dressing, as a regular diet, rather than a ham sandwich on rye or even strawberry short-cake with whipped cream, is one of the head-aches which telephone company officials fall heir to in these parts as they seek to maintain the "all lines clear" signal.

The pesky little bug, sometimes destructive also in groves where oak or other hard-wood trees grow plentiful in the warmer climates, loves his lead cable telephone-wire coverings with its "shot" of arsenic in about the same degree that Poppye likes his spinach. Yet he's a mystery fellow, if ever there was one.

W. M. Wells, assistant manager at the Santa Ana office of the Southern California Telephone company, and E. H. Humble, district construction superintendent, with headquarters here, both admit several years of study have failed to answer the riddle of where Scobicia Declivis, the lead cable borer—the "short-circuit beetle"—hails from, where he goes after he does his "dirty" work in his "pixilated" way or why he enjoys lead cable covering and arsenic more than ham on rye.

County is Bugless
"Orange county is quite free of the bug now," Wells declared yesterday, "although we do have occasional trouble with him."

Humble explained the known habits of the little fellow, who is about the size of a very small ant and brownish in color.

"When he gets on the lead cables which protect our wiring from dampness, he must first find a 'foothold' before he can start his drilling operations," Humble pointed out. "He generally gets in between the rings which hold up the cable and the cable itself. That seems to give him a grip on the slippery cable so that he is able to bore in after the fashion of a gimlet. Any rough place on the cable gives him a similar 'foothing' by which he is able to cut his way through the cable, creating holes which can quickly short-circuit a telephone system in wet weather, through water seepage.

LONELY CHILD WANTS STOLEN DOLL RETURNED

Miss McIntyre, aged two and a half years, of 710 West Fifth street, today pleaded with The Register to help her find her doll buggy and only doll.

It is pretty early in life for this young lady to have a broken heart. But she has one. This doll and buggy were her only toys. And when a doll is likely to become pretty necessary. Especially if you're two and a half. Ask any young lady of two and a half.

Somebody kidnapped the doll and buggy last Saturday or Sunday in the vicinity of Fifth and Parton streets.

Between sobs, today, Miss McIntyre gave assurance that no questions would be asked, if the kidnaper will only give her a break. Her vocabulary, anyway, wouldn't be quite up to a grilling. So it will be perfectly safe to return the property.

It's only a little old rubber-baby doll, anyway, and nobody else would want it. Even though its mother does think it is the most beautiful doll in the world. Mothers are like that, from two and a half up.

The doll probably can be identified only by its buggy. The buggy is cream and green in color.

DIONNE BABIES IN PICTURE AT STATE

As a special event in connection with the coming birthday anniversary of the Dionne quintuplets, which will be observed next Friday, Walker's State theater has arranged a showing of pictures of the famous Canadian babies.

The picture, which is titled "Going On Two," will be shown in conjunction with the regular program today and Thursday, which presents Francis Lederer and Frances Dee in "The Gay Deception" and Margaret Lindsay, Warren Hull and Ruth Donnelly in "Personal Maid's Secret."

Edward Bryant, of Tilton, N. H., found a spider with human features on its back.

what if I'd been a little child; That woman would have left a little child lying in the road just the same as me! I'm glad it was only a dog instead."

Friend To Rescue

A friend of dogs ran out and straightened the animal's neck from under his body. Seeing a spark of life remained in the dog, the friend ran for help to carry the brown dog to a shady spot and find perhaps a drop or two of cool water with which to help ease the pain.

Because the Great Friend of dogs must have known the love dogs have for life and their great patience with this being called Man, whom dogs love in spite of their shortcomings, this brown dog had but one thought in his mind—to get back to his master. "I'll be alright when I get there. He'll fix my wounds and, perhaps, he'll be needing me too, this master of mine," is the thought that probably was uppermost in his mind.

So this brown dog, painfully lifted his bleeding body and, slowly, hobbled a few steps down the road toward home.

Painful Journey
It was a hard, painful journey across the fields. A few steps, then—rest, with tongue hanging out—panting for breath. Then a few more steps and—rest. After a long time—and many rests—home!

"Ah! there is my master," is the thought that probably ran through the dog's mind. "Now I am home." Master will understand how I feel. He will know what to do. Oh! just to lie down and rest.

"That voice I hear, telling of a brown dog! Why that's the Friend who helped me! He is telling my master about the heartless, cruel, speeding person who left me lying in the road. Yes, the Friend is right—just what I was thinking—

Brain Twizzlers

By Prof. J. D. Flint

Robo, the hobo, was accustomed to smoking gardenia tipped rolled cigarettes before his old man lost his last railroad but now he roams the streets smoking any given brand.

Robo has discovered that he can make one whole cigarette from every six butts that he finds. One day he had 36 butts. How many cigarettes could he make?

KIWANIS CLUB HOLDS ANNUAL FISHING PARTY

Because of the annual fishing party staged today by the organization members of the Santa Ana Kiwanis club sponsored only a skeleton meeting at James cafe at noon. The meeting was held for the benefit of visiting Kiwanians who planned to make up their attendance records.

The fishing party, for club members and their families only, is being held at the Rainbow Fishing club, Azusa.

Members of the club and their families who are attending the fishing party met, on North Broadway, just below Highway 101, at 2 p. m. where a motor caravan was formed. One of the features of the day is to be award of the "Big Fish" prize.

Next week the club will hold another skeleton meeting, because of the barbecue and entertainment to be held at the Municipal bowl in commemoration of Santa Ana's fiftieth birthday. The movement to celebrate Santa Ana's half century of life, originated with the

ORANGE COUNTY POPULATION IS BOOSTED 15,146

Although the United States Census Bureau claims there is a decrease in the population of California, it does not apply to Orange county, according to figures available in the 1936 Orange County Directory, which is just off the press and being delivered today.

According to officials of the Western Directory company, in charge of the publication, the total county population in 1930 was 110,080. In 1936 the population for the county is 125,226, or an increase of 15,146 persons.

In southern Orange county the 1930 directory had 30,600 names of individuals, not including the wife whose name is shown in parenthesis after the husband's name. The 1936 directory contains 36,156 names.

In estimating the population, directory officials multiplied the names shown in the directory by 2 1/4 to allow for the wife and children. By this method they estimated the population of southern Orange county, south of Olive and Garden grove, west to the county line, at 68,850. In 1936 the estimate is 81,351 persons.

By the same system the population of Northern Orange county for 1930 was estimated to be 41,230 and 43,875 in 1936.

In the southern Orange county directory the name of Arnold Aable of Garden grove still holds first place, as it has since 1923. Christian Aaby of Orange holds last place. In northern Orange county Imogene Abbey, who is with the county health department holds first position and Frances Zwilinski, having replaced the Zuver family of Fullerton.

DEMOLAY PLANS ANNUAL SENIOR FORMAL DANCE

Plans have been completed for third annual senior prom to be sponsored by the Santa Ana chapter, Order of De Molay, in cooperation with the high school student body, according to an announcement released today. This dance held annually in commemoration of the senior class at the high school is the summer formal dance of the school.

Popularity of these dances has increased through the two years they have been sponsored in the past and requests for bids, this year are expected to exceed former demands. These bids may be secured from any member of the

NEW CANDIDATE FOR CONGRESS ENTERS RACE

Harold P. Thoreson, director of the San Bernardino County SRA, today formally announced his candidacy for the Democratic nomination for the United States House of Representatives from the Nineteenth Congressional district. The announcement was made in response to hundreds of pledges of support, volunteered by business men and others from all corners of the district, he said. Organization of a committee of 150 representative men and leaders in Orange, Riverside and San Bernardino counties has been completed.

Directing the activities of the SRA for more than two years in San Bernardino county, Mr. Thoreson consistently held the record in the state of California for the lowest administrative costs in handling relief. San Bernardino county was the first county on the coast to have every eligible client actually at work, earning his wages.

The flower of the largest of the callas, or amorphophallus titanium, of the Malay Islands, lasts only a few hours.

De Molay organization but early requests are advised as there are only a limited number of tickets available.

The dance will be held this year at the Santa Ana Country club and music for the affair will be provided by Maestro Lorin Wagner and all the lads.

Miss Kate Benton Honored
With Linen Shower At Tea

Here in Santa Ana where, as the school-girl daughter of the Rev. W. L. H. Benton, former rector of Episcopal Church of the Messiah, and the late Mrs. Benton, she was a general favorite, Miss Kate Benton, now of La Crescenta, was complimented this afternoon at a formal tea given in the Edmund West home, 726 Kilson Drive.

Mrs. West (Louise Stephenson) and Mrs. Edward Field (Evelyn Twiss) of Van Nuys were co-hostesses at the tea, which was one of several parties complimenting Miss Benton since friends have learned of her betrothal to Leonard Field of Los Angeles.

This engagement and the June wedding date which the young people have selected, found further recognition during the course of the afternoon for guests had brought shower gifts of fine linens which were presented the bride-elect.

Mrs. West's home was given the charm which bright flowers impart to such a gathering, and the tea table was especially lovely. For there the flowers were Talisman roses, smiling at their own beauty as it was reflected in a golden mirror plaque. To Mrs. Terry E. Stephenson, aunt of Mrs. West, and Mrs. Charles G. Twiss of Balboa, mother of Mrs. Field, was delegated the honor of pouring tea. Both are close friends of the Benton family and were parishoners of the Rev. Mr. Benton during his pastorate here.

To Wed in June

Miss Benton has completed her schooling since the family moved to La Crescenta, and is now librarian at Van Nuys. Her fiancé is a brother to Mrs. Edward Field's husband, so the two girlhood friends will have the closer bond of relationship after the June wedding.

Mrs. Field and Mrs. West included on their guest list for this afternoon's tea and gift shower, Mrs. Charles G. Twiss of Balboa; Mrs. Terry E. Stephenson, Mrs. Harry Spencer, Mrs. Joseph H. Metzgar, Miss Eleanor Metzgar, Mrs. Lawrence Minge (Evelyn Metzgar), Mrs. B. A. Knudson, Miss Frances Knudson, Mrs. Sara Johnston Hadron, Mrs. Russell Wilson, Mrs. Fred Rowland, Mrs. James L. Allen, Mrs. George L. Chapman, Miss Katherine Chapman, Mrs. E. Floyd Hubbard, Mrs. S. P. Freeman, Mrs. Margery Joplin, Miss Boyd Joplin, all of Santa Ana; Miss Jean Battersby and Miss Elizabeth Benton of La Crescenta; Miss Marcella Turner of Garden Grove; Miss Helen Price of Corona; Mrs. Parke and Miss Theodora Parke of Pasadena, and Miss Rosa Boyd of Redlands.

Girl Reserves

Fremont school Mexican Girl Reserves will entertain Logan school Mexican Girl Reserves Friday afternoon at 3 p. m. in the Y. W. C. A. rooms, when a taffy pull will be staged. Miss Geraldine Cole, Fremont leader, and the Misses Josephine White and Cecilia Ramirez, Logan leaders, will supervise arrangements for the event.

Tri-Y Girl Reserves are completing plans for their annual pajama-and-me banquet to be held Monday evening at 6 o'clock in the Y. W. rooms, with installation of officers as a feature of the evening. Mrs. Edward Gaylord of Los Angeles will be speaker. Girls who have attended ring circle meetings during the year and who have signified their desire to wear a Girl Reserve ring will receive their symbols at this meeting.

Various Gifts
Presented At Bridal Shower

It was a thoroughly delightful social courtesy that Miss Margaret Truscott last night extended to her niece, Miss Mavis Campbell, in recognition of the approach of Miss Campbell's June wedding to Julius Robley Janssen, Los Angeles public accountant.

Miss Truscott, who recently returned to this city after several years' residence in Los Angeles, where she trained and practiced her nursing profession at Good Samaritan hospital, is pleasantly established in the Magnolia apartments, North Broadway. There she received her guests last night, adding charm to her suite of rooms by many flowers arranged in bowls and baskets.

Games were introduced in which prizes were won by Mrs. Earl Woods and Miss Margaret Yager. Their presentation was signal for the shower features of the evening, when gifts in wide variety which guests had selected, were presented to Miss Campbell in a ribbon and flower decorated basket.

Miss Truscott was assisted by Miss Helen Campbell in various details of her hospitality, including the re-arrangement of card tables for serving a sweets course as a finale to the evening's hospitality. Her guest list included with the honoree, Miss Campbell, the latter's mother, Mrs. Earl E. Campbell of Orange, and the mother of her fiancé, Mrs. Julius Janssen of Los Angeles, together with Mesdames D. F. Campbell, Henry Campbell, Earl Woods, Ensey Campbell, Robert Campbell, W. G. Morner, the Misses Margaret Yager, Henrietta Campbell, Florence Campbell, Katherine Woods, Florence Morner, Helen Campbell, Orange; Mesdames Frank J. Was, Worth Babbitt, Annie Lindsey, Miss Frances Was, Santa Ana; Mesdames George Welby, Howard Thompson, Lucy Culver, Roy Campbell, Miss Mary Newton, Los Angeles; Mrs. G. H. Chesley, Mrs. M. D. Lindsey, Long Beach, and Mrs. A. M. Lindsey, Tustin.

Hostesses were Mrs. Hazel Maxwell, Miss Eva Marshall, Miss Dorothy Joscoe, Mesdames Velde Mitchell, Marian Valley, Nellie Hughes, Margaret Alexander, Mary Maddock and Grace Reid. Their guests were Mesdames R. A. McMahon, Kenneth Green, Lee Elliott, Elton Nichols, L. F. Davis, Arthur Blanding, Norman Cowdrey, V. L. Brown, L. R. Musick, Harold Moomaw, O. L. Jacobs, John Henderson and Miss Margaret Kuehl.

Departure for East
Concluding a visit in this city with relatives and friends, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Buxton left yesterday morning via Santa Fe for their home in Kansas City, Mo. They were guests in the home of Mr. Buxton's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. Buxton, 630 North Ross street.

Preceding the couple's departure for their home, a family dinner party was given in the J. S. Buxton home. In the group were their son and daughters, with their families, including Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Buxton, Miss Kathryn Buxton of the home, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Ramon of Van Nuys, Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Fowler, this city; Mr. and Mrs. William Lane of Tustin. Completing the family party were Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Simpson and children, Ray Jr. and Gary of this city.

Santa Anan Sails
For Japan and China
Sailing last night for the Orient, Mrs. Norton Gaston, 507 East Twentieth street, had bon voyage messages from many friends, several of whom were at Los Angeles harbor to extend their farewell greetings in person.

Mrs. Gaston embarked on the Oosana Maru (Mitsui line) which will dock in Yokohama. During a ten weeks' stay in Japan and China, she will make a collection of art objects in line with a study of Oriental art. Her husband is head of the art department of a number of theaters in Orange county.

N. Pierre Gaston, young son of Mr. and Mrs. Gaston, will stay in San Diego with his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. A. N. Gaston, while his mother is away. In the bon voyage party last night with Norton Gaston and his little son were Mrs. Gaston's mother, Mrs. Rose Kast of San Francisco, now a visitor in the Southland; Miss Elizabeth Sturtevant, Miss Lucinda Griffith, Jerome Gaston, Mrs. O. P. Opp, all of this community; Mr. and Mrs. Dorner T. Schueler and son, Dorner T. Jr., Pomona.

Farewell Dinner
Mr. and Mrs. Leland Ostrander, 442 1-2 South Birch street who left today for a three weeks' trip to Kansas and Nebraska, were complimented at a little dinner party last night in the home of the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lynn Ostrander, 1321 South Tustin avenue. Miss Mary Gish of this city and Francis Ostrander, son of the home, completed the group.

The couple are making the trip by automobile. They expect to arrive in Mr. Ostrander's former home city, Bennington, Kans., in time to spend Memorial Day with his uncle and aunt, Dr. and Mrs. L. M. Henshaw. After a several days' stay in Kansas, they will continue to Grand Island, Neb., to visit with Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Frantz, parents of Mrs. Ostrander, the former Miss Evelyn Frantz. They will stop at Greeley, Colo., and other points en route home.

Current Events Group
Climaxes Events With Spring Luncheon

Bringing to a close their activities for the year, members of the Current Events section held a gala party yesterday afternoon in the lovely home of Mrs. Howard Rapp, 1816 Greenleaf street. Hostesses were Mrs. Rapp and Mesdames Walter Hiskey, Hubert Hall and John Kettler.

Bouquets of larkspur and other pastel-hued flowers were arranged throughout rooms of the home. Mrs. Hall had made place-cards designed with pansies to further a colorful theme carried out through the use of bowls of pansies as centerpieces at small tables. Luncheon was served to precede other events of the afternoon.

Business matters were in charge of Mrs. Harvey Gardner, retiring leader, who will be succeeded by Mrs. Charles Cogan.

Mrs. S. B. Kaufman and Mrs. William Maaz, who held first and second high scores in bridge, were rewarded with pottery bowls. Mrs. Charles Swanner was consoled with a hand-made apron.

Present were Miss Louise Tubbs and Mesdames Harvey Gardner, Hugh Shields, C. E. Bressler, Hazel Maaz, William Maaz, S. B. Kaufman, Nick Brock, John Backus, Charles Swanner, Ernest Stump, Harvey Spears, Charles Cogan, Nat Neff, Wade Warner, Herbert Kralinger, George Osterman, E. L. McKamy, J. T. McKennie, E. H. Gutherier, Harvey Bennett, Frank Sawyer.

New Officers
New officers thus selected and unanimously voted upon were Mrs. Warren Fletcher, president; Mrs. George Spelman, vice president; Mrs. Paul Gilbert, secretary; Mrs. Ruth Bradley, treasurer; Mrs. Victor Hupp, membership chairman.

A new office is to be instituted with the September appointment by Mrs. Fletcher of a historian. This office will be ratified later by constitutional amendment and then will become effective. In plans for summer activities, emphasis was given the importance of a Recent Graduates' group and all national sorority members will be urged to identify themselves either with Panhellenic society itself or with the newly formed junior group. Plans will be worked out also for the annual rush party in September, when former members and prospective members will be brought together.

An interesting interval in advance of introduction of bridge, was the presentation of charter members and past presidents present. Mrs. Victor Hupp, Mrs. Warren Fletcher and Mrs. Richard Couden were charter members, while past presidents were Mrs. Paul Bailey, Mrs. Couden, Miss Neva Hawkins and Mrs. Croddy.

Tally cards whose flower designs were in harmony with the attractive arrangement of blossoms in the lounge, were distributed for contract in which Miss Evelyn Schieber, with high score, won a salad fork and spoon set, and pottery flower bowls were won by Mrs. Robert Wheeler and Dr. Elizabeth Tock with second and third high scores.

Panhellenic Is Arranging For
New Auxiliary

Although Panhellenic society members brought their year's program of meetings to a close with their pleasant session last night in their clubhouse lounge, they did not write "Finis" to quite all their activities. For during the summer recess they will perfect plans to launch a Recent Graduates' branch of the society, designed primarily for those members of national sororities who have only recently finished their college work.

Mrs. Warren Fletcher, Mrs. Grace Knipe, Miss Katherine Smith, Mrs. Clifton B. Steele, Mrs. Harry Westover and Mrs. H. L. Manker formed the hostess group entertaining last night, and opened the evening by serving angel food cake with mounds of whipped cream, and tea as a preliminary to other social and business features of the evening. Tables were quite charming with their immaculate linens and their bowls of pansies, the blossoms being the gift of Mrs. Jack Hill.

Mrs. Harry Le Bard conducted the business meeting during which a roll call of sororities and of colleges attended, provided an interesting feature. Work of the past year was summarized by reports of different committee chairmen. That of the coming year was suggested by the adoption of the nominating committee's report when offered by its chairman, Mrs. William Floyd Croddy.

Quiet Ceremony Has Setting In Garden Grove Home

Mr. and Mrs. L. J. Robinson's home in Garden Grove was setting Tuesday morning, May 26, for the marriage of their daughter, Miss Mildred Jones to Paul Johnson of Santa Ana, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Johnson of Seattle, Wash.

The quiet ceremony was read at 10:30 o'clock by the Rev. W. J. Kesch. The bride was gown in white, and carried a bouquet of roses. Her maid of honor, Miss Honey Whitsett, wore a gold and green costume. Harry Slade was best man.

Wedding breakfast was served to the little group of guests. The new Mr. and Mrs. Johnson left for a honeymoon trip to Washington and Canada, the bride donning a grey and white traveling outfit. They will return to Santa Ana to establish their home. The bridegroom is employed with Slade and Johnson Washing Machine shop in this city.

Speech Arts Group

Ebel Speech Arts section members held their final meeting of the season Monday morning in the clubhouse, where sandwich luncheon was served at the close of an important program in which various members took part.

Hostesses were Mrs. W. P. Read and Mrs. M. M. Holmes. Mrs. Mark Lacy, leader, conducted a business session during which plans were made to resume activities in October. Informal meetings may be held during the summer in the homes of members, it was decided.

Announcements

Women's Missionary society of Calvary church will hold a monthly meeting Thursday in the home of Mrs. Lewis Gall, 1338 West Ninth street. This will be an all day session beginning at 10 o'clock, when white cross work will occupy the group. Covered-dish luncheon will be served at noon. Miss Celestia Churchill of the Mary-Martha Home in Los Angeles, will be speaker. She will be presented with canned goods to be taken to members of the home which she represents.

Roosevelt P-T-A. retiring board members will entertain the new board and teachers of the school Thursday evening at a 5:30 o'clock dinner in the home of the association's new president, Mrs. Harry Fink, 409 Orange avenue. There will be a social time, with a program of vocal numbers to be given by Mrs. C. C. Brisco.

Magnolia circle R. N. A. will meet tomorrow with Mrs. Frederica Miller, 626 East Seventeenth street, where members will hold a covered dish luncheon at noon, with their business session in the afternoon. Junior Y. L. I. will hold its first meeting tomorrow at 3:30 p. m. in Knights of Columbus hall. Members of Capistrano Y. L. I. are invited to attend.

Business and Professional Women have been notified that they will not have their usual Monday night dinner and meeting in the Doris Kathryn, but instead will join on Wednesday night in the Santa Ana anniversary celebration in Municipal Bowl.

Youth Guidance council's organization meeting will be held Thursday at 7:30 p. m. in the Y. W. rooms. The affair will be open to all members of the community who are interested in the formation of such a group. Representatives of all service clubs of the city are expected to be presented.

Invitations To
June Nuptials
Are Out Today

Invitations have been issued by Mr. and Mrs. Russell R. Lutes, 812 South Garmany street, to the wedding of their daughter, Mignonne Jeannette Lutes, to Halstead Brees McCormac, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. McCormac, 112 Church street. This wedding, one of the most important of the succession of nuptial events scheduled for June, is to take place at 4:30 o'clock Sunday afternoon, June 7, in First Methodist Episcopal church. The formal ceremony will be followed by a reception for relatives and close friends, in the church social hall.

Both Miss Lutes and Mr. McCormac have been prominent in young people's groups of the church, and Mr. McCormac is director of the choir together with other musical activities which he continues here. Announcement of their engagement was made in early May at a formal tea at which Mrs. Lutes entertained.

For Club Luncheon
New Home is Setting

Opportunity to inspect the new home of Dr. and Mrs. F. W. Dean, 1108 Louise street, was accorded members of a little club who were entertained Tuesday afternoon by Mrs. Dean.

In celebration of her birthday anniversary, Mrs. Ray Echols was showered with gifts. She was accorded place of honor at the luncheon table, which was appointed with crystal and pottery. Pansies formed an attractive centerpiece. Other flowers used in decorating included bouquets of cornucopia, snapdragons and larkspur.

Present, in addition to the hostesses were Mesdames Ray Echols, R. H. Martin, C. G. Lippincott, Edward Oppen, Harry Fink, Sam Fink and R. C. Crouse. Members of the club will entertain their husbands Friday night.

SOCIETY

Advanced Pupils Will Present Recital

Work of the winter and early spring months for advanced pupils of the Visel-Haughton studios will be summarized Thursday night in the recital to be held at 8 o'clock in Willard auditorium, and to which all friends and music lovers are invited.

All song features of this program will be costume numbers including Irish, French, Italian, Spanish, early English and Russian. Included will be two sketches written by Margaret Gower was especially for the students. Of the sketches, which combine music and dialogue, one depicts the life of Jenny Lind, who will be portrayed by Virginia Pritchard. The other represents a French tapestry whose figures come to life and give various readings and "Little Rose Wetherall" has the principal role. Miss Ruth Armstrong, who will accompany many of the soloists, has arranged a cello and violin obligato for this sketch. Miss Evelyn Schieber, cellist, who has studied extensively in Europe, will be guest artist. Miss Madeline Woodruff will be violinist.

Other program features include selections from "Mignon" sung by Betty Jane Ward; "Danny Boy" sung by Madeline Woodruff; Margaret Davies will sing old English songs; Bruce Buell will present two Russian numbers, "Song of the Flea" and "Slow Horse, Slowly"; Lois Newbold will sing "Smiling Through" and "Ah Sweet Mystery of Life"; and Bill Fairley will sing "Spanish Gold" and "Little Rose of the Rancho." These young people are pupils of Holly Lash Visel.

Miss Betty Jane Moore, a pupil of Lois Rees Auer, will read a cutting from "The Pigeon" (John Galsworthy), and Miss Geraldine Gilbert, pupil of Mrs. Visel, will read "Renaissance" (Edna St. Vincent Millay).

Piano numbers by pupils of Carolyn Haughton, will add variety to the program. "Country Dance" (McFadden) arranged for two pianos, will be played by Jeannette Brown, Frances Crowther, Ruth Townsend and Cornelia Palmer. Other two-piano numbers will be Brahms Waltz No. 2, played by Bruce Buell and David Hunter; Brahms Waltz No. 5, by Frances Couvillon and Helen Newbold, and two Chopin Etudes, by Betty Woodruff and Virginia Adams.

Piano soloists will be Virginia Adams, playing a Debussy group; Carolyn Wells, who will present some of her own compositions; Lois Newbold in a Chopin group, and Betty Woodruff playing Liszt's Hungarian Rhapsody No. 2.

You and Your Friends

George W. Mullis, 842 Riverine avenue, underwent an operation yesterday morning in St. Joseph hospital, where he is reported getting along as well as could be expected. His daughter, Mrs. H. K. Royal Neighbors Hold District Hub Event

Seventy-nine Royal Neighbors of this city were in Huntington Beach Monday night for the final district hub meeting of the year, held in I.O.O.F. hall with the beach city's camp as host organization for the evening. Magnolia camp of Santa Ana was represented by 47 members; Golden State camp of this city, by 32 members.

Huntington Beach officers made formal entry, after which District Deputy Lenore Fletcher of Long Beach, took charge of the meeting, which was an open event.

Memorial services for departed Royal Neighbors members were conducted by Golden State camp officers, wearing white frocks. They passed through a flower-decked archway, forming a cross with the bouquets which they carried. "Beautiful Garden of Prayer" was sung by Mrs. Marguerite Corbett and Mrs. Ada Kiegl of this city.

Magnolia camp's drill team composed of 16 young people in peach net frocks over satin, put on a drill. Members carried illuminated bouquets.

Fullerton team members, wearing pale pink net frocks over taffeta, executed a drill.

Plans were made for a final event to be held June 23 at 8 p.m. in Fullerton L.O.O.F. hall, with families and friends of district lodge members invited to attend. There will be a program, dancing, cards and refreshments.

For Eastern Guests

Many intimate small parties are being staged for the entertainment of two eastern guests in this city. Mrs. Frank Minor and Mrs. Paul Buckholtz of Sedalia, N. Y., who are here with their cousins, Miss Gertrude Minor, 207 West Seventeenth street, and at the Dr. George L. Chapman home, 3032 North Main street. Yesterday Mrs. Floyd Hubbard (Gertrude Chapman) was hostess at luncheon in her home, 1115 Louise street, including with the honor guests, her sister, Miss Katherine Chapman, Miss Minor and Mrs. Eugene Minor. In the afternoon they found special interest in visiting the Kellogg Stock farm near Pomona.

Sunday was marked by a family dinner at which Miss Katherine Chapman and her brother, George Minor. In the afternoon they their North Main street home. They had as dinner guests with Mrs. Minor and Mrs. Buckholtz, Miss Gertrude Minor, and Mrs. Floyd Hubbard and Miss Effie White of this city; Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Minor and Willard Minor of Costa Mesa, and Earl Minor of Los Angeles.

Mrs. Buckholtz and Mrs. Minor are planning to extend their visit until after the return of Dr. and Mrs. Chapman from the eastern trip upon which they left some two weeks ago.

Birch street, was in Los Angeles yesterday for a farewell visit with old friends, Mrs. Henry Nelson and daughter Evelyn, who left today for their home in Waseca, Minn., after a visit in the Southland. Mrs. Nelson and her daughter, with Mrs. Gus Krueger and daughter Evelyn of Los Angeles, spent Monday in this city as guests in the Dawson home.

TAX PROPOSAL HIT IN FARM BUREAU TALK

ORANGE, May 27.—Declaring that the proposed repeal of the state sales tax and the substitution of the single tax was the most serious proposition to come before voters in many years, Dian R. Gardner, head of the Orange County Farm Bureau tax committee, outlined effects which he said would follow the acceptance of the proposition at a meeting of the West Orange Farm center Tuesday night at the West Orange school. William R. Feldner presided.

Gardner stated he believed that if the proposed measure is carefully read by voters they will vote against it, but, he said, it is worded in such a way as to make it seem a highly desirable measure. The passage of the measure would wreck California agriculture as it places practically all of the taxation on the land, it being planned to remove personal taxes, taxes on gasoline, liquor and beverage taxes during a five year period, he declared.

The proposition has been rejected six times since 1910 by voters of the state, the speaker brought out. At the end of the first year, taxes on land would be increased 55 per cent, and at the end of the five year period, set for the institution of the entire single tax program, 91.03 per cent of all taxes would be levied on land, he said.

Gardner also discussed school taxes, stating that Westminster elementary school is operating at the lowest cost of any in the county, the sum required per pupil per year being $64, with the average for the county $93. The elementary schools of Orange require $97 per pupil, the speaker stated. Gardner also gave the directors' report.

H. H. Gardner gave the report of the farm bureau avocado committee and stated that an avocado tour will take place June 10 and that those expecting to attend are to leave the Bathgate place at 1:30 p.m.

Mrs. D. P. Leonard gave the home department report and stated that the department will meet with Mrs. Joe Witt June 10 all day. A citrus institute at Fullerton June 13 and an inter-county walnut field day will be held at El Monte June 6, it was announced by Farm Adviser Harold E. Wahlberg.

CARD PARTY HELD BY RELIEF CORPS

ORANGE, May 27.—Friends and members of the Orange Woman's Relief corps held their monthly social meeting at the home of Mrs. G. L. Buhman, 827 East Palm, yesterday afternoon.

The afternoon was spent in playing bridge, "500" and flinch. Mrs. Gladys McDonald and Mrs. Euphonia Ralls held first and second scores in bridge. Mrs. Ada Baker and Mrs. Lucy Robinson won first prize in flinch and Mrs. Mabel Schultz held second score in flinch. Mrs. Emma Anthony received the door prize.

During the refreshment hour ice cream and cake were served to Mesdames Mabel Elliott, Gertrude Stout, Mary Duff, Helen Potter, J. Neblung, of Anaheim; J. Otto, Euphonia Ralls, Florence Merriam, Hattie Davis, Ada Baker, Emma Anthony, Lucy Robinson, Essie Rodger, Julia B. Pratt Gladys McDonald, Lillian Weitenmann and the hostesses, Mesdames G. L. Buhman, Emma Wells, Virginia Buhman, Julia Miller and Mabel Schultz.

INSTALLATION HELD BY CLUB GARDEN GROUP

ORANGE, May 27.—A garden party closed the year's activities for members of the Garden section of the Orange Woman's club yesterday, the event being held at the H. O. Russell home, North Harwood street, a covered dish luncheon preceding the business meeting and an afternoon of cards.

Small tables were set in the flower bordered back yard where a honeysuckle vine covering the fence formed the background. Beds of flowers and plants and winding brick walks edged with gay pink petunias added to the attractiveness of the setting.

Mrs. George Peterson Jr. headed the hostess committee and luncheon was served cafeteria style. Tables were centered with pottery bowls of pink and blue Canterbury bells.

Officers were installed by the past president of the club, Mrs. Donald Smiley. They are Mrs. Perry Grout, president; Mrs. Fred Alden, first vice president; Mrs. H. A. Coburn, second vice president; Mrs. George Peterson Jr., recording secretary; Mrs. H. F. Taylor, corresponding secretary; Mrs. M. L. Pearson, treasurer.

Following a review of the year's activities by Mrs. Grout the section head announced committee for the year: Press, Mrs. Mary Adams; garden editor, Mrs. R. W. Miller; historian, Mrs. A. H. Hallock; program and year book, Mrs. Grout; Mrs. H. O. Russell, Mrs. R. W. Miller, Mrs. Fred Alden and Mrs. George Peterson Jr.; transportation, Mrs. George Seba, Mrs. C. E. Short and Mrs. Alfred Leech; luncheon committee, Mrs. E. Lush, Mrs. H. A. Brown, Mrs. M. M. Fishback, Mrs. L. W. Thompson and Mrs. L. A. Bortz; membership, Mrs. Thomas Hight, Mrs. George Bartley and Mrs. Lucien Flippin; garden tours, Mrs. Grout, Mrs. Earl Elson and Mrs. K. A. King.

Two new members joined the section, Mrs. Earl Crawford and Mrs. Vern Shippee, and it was announced that Mrs. C. A. Palmer and Mrs. F. E. Hallman are to become members. Guests included Mrs. C. C. Bonebrake, Mrs. Homer Wing, Mrs. V. D. Johnson and Mrs. Raymond Terry.

During the business session it was voted to present the club with the sum of $30 at the last meeting of the year to be held June 1. The section closed the year with a membership of 65. Auction and contract bridge were played, with high score in auction going to Mrs. Anna M. Slater and in contract to Mrs. Anna Elmer. The former received a wrought iron wall bracket holding a pottery flower bowl and Mrs. Elmer an attractive Japanese flower holder.

Hostesses for the afternoon were Mrs. Peterson, Mrs. Russell, Mrs. H. F. Taylor and Mrs. Fred Alden.

ORANGE PERSONALS

ORANGE, May 27.—Miss Edna Case presided as chairman at a meeting of Sceptor Social circle at the Masonic hall yesterday. The afternoon was spent in sewing and chat.

Kellar Watson sr., South Glassell street, is reported as improving in health at Loma Linda, where he went following a nervous breakdown.

Members of the Orange Woman's Relief corps attending a meeting in La Habra this week were Samuel P. Kane, Mrs. Gladys McDonald, Mrs. Florence Merriam, Mrs. Lillian Weitenmann, Mrs. Rosalia Smith, Mrs. Blanche Campbell and Mrs. Ada Baker. Wednesday Mrs. McDonald installed officers of Federation No. 11 of the W. R. C. at San Diego. Those accompanying her were Mrs. Fay Boone, of Bellflower; Mrs. Elizabeth Ray, of Anaheim; Samuel P. Kane and Mrs. Ada Baker.

Final Reading Given New Laguna License Measure

NEW MINISTER, WIFE HONORED AT RECEPTION

BREA, May 27.—A reception to welcome the Rev. Roy F. Stevens and Mrs. Stevens to the pastorate of the Nazarene church was held Monday night, with more than 100 from Fullerton and Anaheim.

Guests were present. Horace Chansler announced the program numbers and introductions were made by the Rev. A. F. Laine, retiring pastor of the church. Welcomes were extended by the pastor of Brea and by many others with final responses by the new pastor and his wife.

The program opened with community singing led by R. O. Williams of the Christian church and the prayer was offered by the Rev. Frank Stipp, pastor of that church. A solo, "Carry Me Back to Calvary's Mountain," was sung by Mrs. Ross Warner of the Baptist church, Mrs. B. H. Blanchard accompanying at the piano.

Miss Helen Johnston, of Anaheim, favored with a number on the electric guitar and three readings were given by Mrs. Lina Russell, "Try Smiling," "The Barefoot Boy of Yesterday" and "The Lost Chord." The Rev. Mr. Stevens sang "Dreaming," being accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Stevens.

Following the program adjournment was made to the cottage annex, where punch and cookies were served by Irene Stivers, Ruth and Ella Mae Mosely and where a social hour was enjoyed.

The Nazarene church board has had the parsonage entirely renovated and remodeled for the Rev. and Mrs. Stevens and their three-year-old daughter.

Jury At Laguna Convicts Driver

LAGUNA BEACH, May 27.—David T. Prenter, Dana Point realtor, was convicted of reckless driving by a jury in Justice C. C. Cravath's court Tuesday afternoon. It was alleged that Prenter's car on April 18 struck A. J. Robinson, carpenter, causing injuries that included a fractured skull, broken ribs and other hurts, from which the injured man is slowly recovering.

City Attorney Milburn S. Harvey prosecuted the case and John W. Groom, of Dana Point, appeared as defense counsel. Testimony was given by Traffic Officer Howard W. Allanson of the Laguna Beach police force, Al R. Stricker and Sam Smith, eye-witnesses to the accident, and other witnesses. The trial consumed three hours, including presentation of many maps, charts and drawings depicting alleged conditions at the corner of Coast Boulevard South and Brooks street, where the incident occurred. Justice Cravath set May 29 at 10 a. m. for sentence.

Memorial Rites Held For Teacher

COSTA MESA, May 27.—A program in memory of the late Mrs. Edith West, 67, who was first grade teacher in the Costa Mesa elementary school, was held from the front steps of the main building of the school Tuesday afternoon, with the entire school present on the front lawn. Mrs. West, re-employed by the school trustees at their last meeting, would have served her 12th year as a teacher in the institution next year. Funeral services were held in Long Beach yesterday.

While the school flag was being lowered to half mast the school children and teachers stood at attention, following which Miss Wanda Thompson, accompanied by Miss Marie Hiebach, sang a solo. Miss Helen Davis gave a reading, "A Student's Tribute," and Henry Abrams, principal of the school gave a message of tribute in behalf of the deceased's fellow teachers. The Rev. W. L. Love was in charge of the devotions. Cub Scout "Bill" Smalley blew taps.

Players To Give Comedy Next Friday

SAN JUAN CAPISTRANO, May 27.—The Community players of San Juan Capistrano will present their first production Friday evening at 8 o'clock in the high school auditorium. Their play, "You're Telling Me," under the direction of James Cook, will be a hilarious three-act comedy.

The cast includes Mrs. F. W. Rogers, the devoted mother; Mrs. M. E. Walters, the daughter; Mrs. Paul Esslinger, the charming friend; Mrs. Kenneth Haas, newly rich; Mrs. Leslie Hancock, with ambitions to be a movie actress; Mrs. Ethel Lunderback, timid and shy; Bill Speer, good natured and easy going; Miss Walters the uninvited guest; William Henning, the love sick bachelor; Wallace Mahoney, the aviator of foreign nobility.

BEACH C. OF C. PREPARE FOR JULY 4 EVENTS

HUNTINGTON BEACH, May 27.—Plans were completed for the Fourth of July celebration at the chamber of commerce directors meeting held last night. The celebration will be held July 3, 4 and 5. William Gallienne, secretary of the chamber of commerce, will be in charge and M. McCallen will be chairman of the general committee. Others on the general committee include Willis Osborne, A. W. Frost, Cecil Rood, Dr. Douglas Hough, Warren Bristol and Jack Africa.

The celebration will open with a Mardi Gras ball Friday evening, July 3. On the Fourth a grand "Carnival Del Mar" parade will be held at 11 o'clock. Other events which will feature the three days' celebration will include a bathing beauty review, baby contest, old timers' picnic, water sports, fire works display and a horse show. Instead of the usual rodeo there will be contests of various kinds and games.

This will be the 27th annual celebration of Independence Day in Huntington Beach and promises to be the finest one yet held.

TUSTIN

TUSTIN, May 27.—Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Stone were Sunday guests of Mrs. Stone's parents, the Rev. and Mrs. S. F. Schiffer, at Azusa. Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Stone were recent dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Johnson, of Huntington Park.

Executive board members, old and new, of Tustin Grammar school P.-T. A., were guests of Mrs. R. C. Korff and Mrs. Orlo W. Householder, president and vice president of the association, at an all-day party at the Householder beach cottage in Laguna Beach May 26.

Mrs. Chester A. Day spent the week end with her husband, Dr. Day, in Los Angeles, where he is employed.

Mrs. Mina A. King and daughters, Virginia and Genevieve, were guests at a barbecue given at San Juan Capistrano Saturday night in observance of Mrs. King's sister, Mrs. Clarence McFadden.

Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Miller, of Pacific avenue, visited Mr. and Mrs. Leo Wilson, at Laguna Beach, Sunday.

Mrs. Harry Burlew, of Los Angeles, was a week end house guest of her brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. George Gaylord, and three young sons.

DON'T FLIRT, TYPISTS' ADVICE PROVO, Utah (UP)—Helen Hansen of Lehi high school and Marian Stevens, Millard county high, inter-mountain commercial contest champions, said refraining from "flirting with the boss" is one of the prime requisites of a good stenographer.

GRADUATES OF GARDEN GROVE SCHOOL LISTED

GARDEN GROVE, May 27.—Graduation exercises will be held at the Washington school auditorium the evening of June 4 at 7:30 o'clock, according to announcement made today by S. R. Fitz, superintendent of schools. Diplomas will be presented to 38 graduates.

The program will open with procession of students followed by invocation by the Rev. William J. Keech, pastor of the Baptist church, and numbers by the Boys' Glee club and sixth grade chorus.

Dr. J. Whitcomb Brougher, pastor of the First Baptist church of Glendale, will give the address on the subject, "Keys and Key Holes." Following the address diplomas will be presented by Superintendent Fitz and Mrs. W. M. Kirven, chairman of the school.

Numbers will be furnished by the Girls' Glee club and members of the eighth grade will sing the class song. The benediction will be by the Rev. W. J. Keech.

BEGIN HERB TODAY

GAIL EVERHETT, winner of the John S. Lorne costume design prize, comes to New York to find work. Gail's parents are both dead. She has spent the past three years at MISS CRANSTON'S fashionable school for girls—due to Miss Cranston's generosity and friendship for Gail's mother.

Armed with a letter from Lorne, Gail goes to his office and is told he is out of town. DEREK HARGREAVES, an artist, overhears this conversation and offers to help Gail. He advises her to go to MADAME LIZETTE'S shop to apply for a job.

Gail arrives there just after temperamental Madame Lizette has learned her designer has gone to Hollywood. Gail gets the job and goes to work next morning. Madame Lizette is a trying employer and at the end of the day Gail is discouraged. She forgets to dinner.

LUCILLE TRAVERS, snobbish classmate of Gail's, asks them to join her party.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY CHAPTER VII

DEREK said insistently, "But it's perfectly all right with me—don't give it another thought!"

They were leaving the Russian restaurant after Gail had refused Lucille Travers' invitation to join her friends.

"But I'm afraid I was rather selfish," Gail objected. "Lucille is frightfully rich. Perhaps if you'd met her friends it might have brought you some commissions for portraits."

"Do you think I'd sacrifice an hour with you for the sake of such a mercenary consideration?" As they reached the door Gail noticed the woman who had spoken to her the day before in the tearoom—the one who had urged her to see a certain exhibit of paintings. Gail was surprised when Derek acknowledged the woman's jerky little bow most courteously.

It was not until they were outside that he said, "Did you notice that rather unusual looking woman to whom I bowed as we left the restaurant?"

"Yes. Who is she?" Gail asked interestedly.

"Mrs. Morton, the widow of one of America's greatest financiers. She's tremendously rich and takes an interest in young painters, trying to get a start. Art's her hobby. In fact, it was the sale of a little water color to her that set my feet on the ladder."

"How exciting!" said Gail. "But, believe it or not, she spoke to me yesterday!" Quickly she told Derek of their meeting.

"Well, you are having some lucky breaks, for if Mrs. Morton

That's the only way we'll get acquainted. I've just started to work with Madame Lizette's!

"Oh, Madame Lizette's!" Natalie sat forward in her chair. "How ever did you manage to get in there? I hear it's awfully hard even to get an appointment with her to talk about a job! But maybe you had some pull?"

"No," Gail replied, and then revealed the manner in which she had secured her job. "You see, after all, it was only luck," she went on, "and besides, I don't know what may happen tomorrow. It wouldn't surprise me from what I've seen at Madame's if I should lose my job any moment!"

"You don't seem to feel very worried about it."

GAIL shrugged her shoulders. "Had she spoken too freely to this stranger? But, as though the dusky-haired girl had read her thoughts, she started up, taking the scissors with her. When she reached the door, she murmured, 'Hope you don't think I've asked too many questions. You know I don't want to pry into anyone's affairs.'"

"That's all right. All I've told you might be published from the house. It's been over so nice to you to stop and talk to me. Come back any time you like."

Alone again, she summed up the other girl, "A bit nosy, but not a bad sort." Maybe they could go around some together, for undoubtedly Natalie knew the city well. Gail glanced at her traveling clock and saw that it was only half past 10. She would have time to write to Miss Cranston before turning in.

Opening her handbag, she took out her fountain pen, sat down at the desk, and began to write. "There," she exclaimed an hour later as she re-read the letter and, folding it, slipped it into the envelope. "That should satisfy the dear old thing!" A wave of colored Gail's cheeks when she thought of Derek. She had not mentioned his name!

GAIL laughed. "Then I guess you don't think much of my line?"

"Oh, that's different. You're actually creating—not just raving about creations! Besides, if you're

Today's Guest Editorial

By
John Lutz, Jr., President of Santa Ana 20-30 Club

The "Guest Editor" selects his own subject matter and it may or may not agree with the opinions of the publisher. The Register will invite and publish daily a "guest editorial" by some prominent, practical Orange county citizen.

YOUTH, TO BE SERVED, MUST SERVE

About 14 years ago a young man in Sacramento conceived the idea of a club where the young men of his community could band together and carry on the same functions of a civic nature as the older service clubs. This young man, although only 20 years of age, had foresight enough to realize that he and his friends would be called upon at some future date to carry on the civic duties which would eventually be relinquished by the older men of the community and that they, as young men, should prepare themselves for those duties.

The result of this young man's ideas was the founding of the "Association of 20-30 Clubs" whose membership is limited to young men between the ages of 20 and 30 and are engaged in some form of business enterprise either as employee or employer.

The principles of the club as set out by the founders are as follows: "To develop, by precept and example, a more intelligent, aggressive and serviceable means of forming enduring friendships. To provide a practical means of rendering altruistic service, and of building better communities." Before the founding of the 20-30 club there was no organization of any nature to which the average young man could turn in order that he could receive such benefits as set out in these principles. Although there were service clubs in existence many years prior to the founding of the 20-30 club the age and status in the business world of the members made it practically impossible for the young man to affiliate.

"Youth, To Be Served, Must Serve" was the real idea of the organization. Realizing that youth must serve its apprenticeship in civic affairs just as it must in the business world the members of the various 20-30 clubs have taken upon themselves many varied forms of projects which have been a direct benefit to the surrounding community. Having as its main asset, "YOUTH," a good live wire 20-30 club enters into these various projects with a great deal of enthusiasm which naturally is required in order that any enterprise be successful. In carrying on this work the slogan of the club, "Sincerity in Service, Our Slogan for Success" guides the clubs in the correct attitude toward civic service.

The Santa Ana 20-30 club, which is composed of 45 young men residing in and around this city, has always endeavored to be of some community service and at this time is supplying the funds necessary to build a bowling green in a section of the new park being laid out in the northeast section of our city. We hope with the completion of this project that the residents of this community wishing to use their leisure time in some form of outdoor recreation will take advantage of this "green" and reap a great benefit therefrom.

A VAST SHIFTING ARMY

If you've been wondering just how much the activities of government have expanded in recent years, consider the fact that one job in every 10 is a government position.

In no other "industry" has there been such activity, says the Civil Service Reform League. From the lowest units of government upward, the trend in the last decade or so definitely has been toward more and more public administration.

But the trend is significant, too, for its shifting character and immense turnover. For politics makes and unmakes most of these jobs. There still is a large mass of government employees who labor under the shadow of the spoils system, with the result that efficiency and economy are thrown out the window.

It is not the fault of any particular administration, but a common weakness of all. It is time that the electorate became smart and plugged harder for wholesale adoption of the merit system.

YEARS TO MAKE UP LOSS

The report of the Ford Motor Car company filed with the Massachusetts commission of corporations, shows that the profits of the corporation in 1935 amounted to $5,565,617, not allowing for any dividend that might have been paid. The Ford Motor Car company is a private corporation so the entire financial statement is not public property. It is reasonable to suppose, however, that there were little, if any, dividends paid as that would have only increased Ford's personal taxes.

These profits are more than a million less than they were in 1934. In 1933, the Ford corporation had a loss of approximately $3,500,000. In 1932, the report indicated a loss of $79,247,069.

At the rate of profits of the Ford Motor Car company for the last two years, it would take 12 years to make up the loss the Ford Motor Car company had in the one year 1932.

Large corporations do not always have profits; neither do small ones.

PERPETUATING OUR INCOMPETENCY

It seems very strange how we can "kid" ourselves into believing that the present generation is so wise that it needs to make such a great effort to transmit our knowledge to our children.

Here we are in a country with more natural resources than any other country in the world and, yet, we are so stupid that we pass laws which cause the United States to have one-half of the unemployed people in all the world. With our rich country, in spite of the fact that we are, figuratively speaking, burning the furniture and eating up the seed corn, in our taxing methods, we are not able to balance the budget by $6,000,000,000.

Yet, in spite of these facts staring us in the face, we insist upon trying to instruct our children through our high schools, public state colleges and public adult education, in proper social relations. We seem perfectly willing to do this, even if we are not able to pay the expense of transmitting our "intelligence" (or more properly, our supreme egoism), and are perfectly willing to have it charged up and added to our children's burdens.

It would seem, if we are wise enough to have any philosophy of life worth transmitting to our children, we certainly should be wise enough to pay for the expense of this education rather than to insist upon educating them and passing the cost of same on to them when they are grown up.

It takes lots of conceit for parents to insist upon this kind of treatment of our children. Are we really fair to them or are we only satisfying our own vanity and egoism?

OVER ORGANIZED

How many Santa Anans would be interested in charter membership in the National Organization to End Organizations?

In all the hue and cry regarding regimentation, few people seem to give a thought to the possibilities of regimentation involved in this wave of organization that seems to have inundated the country.

Santa Ana is riding on the very crest of the wave. We have so many separate groups that one becomes dizzy trying to enumerate them. There was a time when each fraternal or patriotic organization had its auxiliary; each church had its women's group for carrying out the work program; each club had its regular program routine; each school had its Parent-Teacher association.

Today the fraternal and patriotic auxiliaries are divided and sub-divided; junior organizations have sprung up among young sons and daughters; wives of lodge members have clubs to meet on lodge nights. Church groups have formed in bewildering variety; Parent-Teacher associations are sub-divided for social and friendly purposes; clubs have their sub-divisions and their junior organizations; even strictly social groups are forming substitute and junior organizations.

On every side we hear the complaint: "I have no time for the things I really want to do. Oh, for some of the leisure of our grandparents!" But if Grandfather belonged to the Masons or the Odd Fellows and Grandmother had her single church society and her Brownie club, both considered that their club duties were ended. They might spend one evening a month entertaining the whist club but the rest of the time was spent in doing the things they really wanted to do.

Aside from the amount of time that these various clubs demand, there is the question of money. Each one requires initiation fees, dues, stated lunch and dinner expenditures. Where does it all come from? Where does it all go?

A few years ago a representative from the Carnegie Foundation visited Santa Ana, in a survey to find a community which might be developed culturally and benefit by foundation funds. Results of the local survey showed Santa Ana to be so over-organized with its lodges, service clubs, patriotic, church, school and social groups, that the city was not even considered. What that representative would say today, after the passing of a scant three or four years each of which has added a dozen or more clubs to the list, we leave to your imagination.

ARIZONA WATER DECISION

The importance of the supreme court decision in the Colorado water decision is clearly presented in an editorial in the L. A. Times. It is as follows:

"By unanimous decision of the Supreme Court, Arizona is denied permission to file suit against California and the other Colorado Basin States, for an allocation of the waters of the river. In one sense the decision did not decide anything; in another it decided a very important question, though this had been by inference decided before.

It settled finally the question of whether the Colorado is an interstate stream, over which Congress has jurisdiction, or the exclusive property of Arizona, as Arizona has attempted to assert at various times. Congress has the say.

The court settled this point by holding that no suit, to which the United States is not a party, could settle anything about the Colorado. The United States cannot be sued without its consent, which means Arizona must get an enabling act through Congress to obtain the determination of rights she seeks.

The court left the way open for such a suit, or for other litigation the nature of which it indicated, if and when Arizona can show that she is being damaged by any acts of California or other States. Since, barring a drought of unprecedented proportions, there will be water for everybody, including all Arizona can put to profitable use, the latter contingency is not likely to arise. This fustian over Arizona's share of the river is largely academic and technical. As a practical matter, the development which would enable Arizona to use any substantial part of the Colorado's flow would cost too much to be commercially possible."

Day By Day In Washington

By DAVID LAWRENCE
(Copyright, 1935)

WASHINGTON, May 27.—Two speeches made by Alfred P. Sloan, Jr., on the west coast in the last few days constitute a contribution to the national debate on unemployment and recovery which, because they are not political in character, will attract far less attention than the addresses of the candidates in this campaign year.

Yet what Mr. Sloan has said happens to be the first carefully prepared answer from a spokesman of an important industry to the economic philosophy of President Roosevelt as outlined in his recent speeches at Baltimore and New York.

Mr. Sloan's first speech at Los Angeles was entitled "Shall we have more or less?" and his second, at San Francisco, was called "More and better jobs." Taken together they form a symposium of ideas in answer to the oft-heard query—"Well, what would you do to re-employ 10,000,000?"

As head of the General Motors corporation, Mr. Sloan talks by experience of what has actually been accomplished in the automotive industry by actually putting into effect the philosophy of lower prices and lower costs through efficiency and a consequent increase in sales and in payrolls and in the number employed.

The first comment was directed at President Roosevelt's remark in his New York speech wherein he said:

"Reduction of costs of manufacture does not mean more purchasing power and more goods consumed. It means just the opposite."

The foregoing has been the subject of much controversy, yet Mr. Sloan is among the first of America's business leaders to speak out frankly about it. He says:

"I sincerely hope that we may have a broad discussion of that rather astounding pronouncement before we reverse our industrial technique. I cannot believe that this means what it really says. It must be based on the belief that a reduction in the cost of manufacture means a reduction in the wage scale. That is not necessarily so; in fact, it should not be so.

"It can be demonstrated, beyond any reasonable doubt, that those industries which have been most successful in reducing the costs of goods and services and expanding their markets have, at the same time, paid the highest wage and have continually raised that wage through evolution.

"It would naturally follow from what our president stated that, if the reduction of costs decreases consumption, then an increase of costs should increase consumption. It is impossible to reconcile that philosophy with the past record and today's experience.

"I believe that, if we reduce the cost of goods and services by greater efficiency, by better technique and thus are able to make lower prices, we shall stimulate the market because more can be bought. Hence more jobs and more things for more people. That at least has been our experience and it is still the case today."

Mr. Sloan takes issue, too, with those business men who have been arguing for "stabilization" of prices. He insists this means "an umbrella over the inefficient." The labor leaders, like some industrialists, have swallowed this philosophy, he declares. And here is the kernel of the whole address:

"America must decide between two opposing principles of industrial operation: competition, on the one hand, or regulation and ultimately regimentation by government, on the other. The latter, to my way of thinking, offers the only possible substitute for the former; the issue is plainly before us.

"However objectionable industrial competition may be to some, or all of us, I am convinced that competition offers the only solution to the perfectly natural desire and right of more people to have more things, and especially the opportunity to afford the full employment of our workers in the production of wealth.

"It seems perfectly plain that, if the exchange of labor for goods and services, or one form of goods or services for another, can only take place on the basis of arbitrary terms set by the seller, irrespective of their value to the buyer, and if no one will work at less than a stated wage, irrespective of the value of that wage in terms of goods and services, then we might just as well recognize and accept permanent depression, permanent unemployment, a continuous dole, and make the best of it."

Certainly, the automobile industry, which is profitable these days, has followed the principle of greater dollar value and has by real efficiency made headway.

It is in the San Francisco speech that Mr. Sloan accepts 100 per cent the philosophy of the Brookings Institution of Washington and contradicts President Roosevelt's contention at Baltimore that the answer to unemployment is "to have fewer workers working less."

The Brookings theory is that America has not yet reached the stage of industrial development "in which we have the man power to produce more than our people, as a whole, have the desire to consume" and that "it is impossible materially to shorten the working day and still produce the quantities of goods and services that the American people want to consume."

Mr. Sloan goes so far as to say that, if the problem is intelligently analyzed, it is possible "to develop in this country a worker shortage instead of a job shortage." He thinks "better jobs," both socially and economically, are possible if industry will move toward "the maximum possible continuity of employment with an annual wage as great as possible in relation to the hourly wage."

Progress is being made toward this objective, the motor executive pointed out. But the important factor is this: "One way to provide 'more and better jobs' is by increasing the hours of employment, permitting our workers to earn more, hence to increase the spread between the cost of necessities of life and the annual income of the worker. I am not advocating that solution. I recognize that we must have a proper balance between leisure and work. But where we set the balance importantly influences whether we are to have more or fewer jobs."

The principal point, in Mr. Sloan's opinion, comes in the handling of obsolescence. He thinks America's production plant is today obsolete. He believes it can be and should be rebuilt, that it would provide jobs and would result in lowering prices at the same time because costs would go down. "Everything is waiting," he remarks. "There is a grand opportunity to rebuild America on the basis of today's technology." The two fundamental facts in conclusion are worth repeating:

"The first, that there is no practical or economic justification for the national belief of today that there is a limit to the number of man hours of constructive employment. That we must divide up, that we cannot expand, is a defeatist attitude. It is the philosophy of scarcity. It is only for those who are not willing to see. The second, that today there exists a practical opportunity of great importance—let us rebuild America."

Now the interesting thing is that President Roosevelt and Alfred P. Sloan Jr., ought really to be looking at an economic problem the same way—for there is nothing political about economic facts and experience. But the difference is that Mr. Roosevelt has never met a payroll in an industry or been responsible for industrial operation and Mr. Sloan has not only had the responsibility but has made a success of it. Yet in the coming campaign the politicians will be talking economics and denouncing the business men—and the unemployed will be the innocent bystanders. But that's campaigning as it always has been.

OUR CHILDREN

By ANGELO PATRI

THE MILK DRINKING PROBLEM

"I can't get Michael to drink his milk with his meals."

"He seems to be well nourished." "He eats well enough and never fusses about anything except drinking his milk with his meals. He leaves it sitting there and when I tell him to drink it he says he hasn't room for it. Makes all sort of excuses and leaves it."

"He ate a good meal, though?" "Yes. All except his milk. Today at noon he ate a baked potato, with butter, a lamb chop, vegetable salad, applewhip. But he would not touch his milk. Right off he began to cry and say he was full."

"Maybe he was telling the truth? His stomach was full and to add a glass of milk would be just too much."

"But he has to have his quart of milk, doesn't he?"

"He ought to have enough milk, but if he eats other food, as he does, he may not need the whole quart. He is five years old now and eats the same food as an adult. His stomach may be smaller than is usual. Suppose you try not giving him his milk with his meals, but in-between? See if he takes it then?"

Babies live on milk. All children benefit by taking milk daily. But all children do not need and will not take the same amount, especially if it is served as a drink with meals. There are many good ways of serving milk to older children apart from the straight pure drink out of a glass. Children like puddings. Milk is the chief ingredient of these good desserts. Rice pudding can be made like ice cream in its delicate flavor, its rich creaminess. Bread puddings, carefully made, spotted with raisins, carry plenty of milk in their attractive goodness. Ice cream is milk and eggs glorified. The better the milk and the eggs, the better the cream tastes and the more the children will eat. We do not serve half enough ice cream. The home-made article, which is the noblest form of all, grows scarcer, probably because to make it in its mouth-watering quality it should be made in the old-fashioned freezer.

When the older children begin shirking their drink of milk at luncheon time begin adding it to the dessert. What they do not see will not hurt them, in this case at least. Don't make drink-ess milk a duty, but put your weight on the side of the pleasure it brings in tasty dishes that all children like. There is no harm in serving food that is good to look at and better to taste. There is no harm in teaching children to like to eat. The best way to do this is to learn to cook and serve tasty dishes, attractive in color, and lip-smackingly, chop-flickingly good. Grown people who complain about their children's inactivity for what is served them would be in open rebellion against the same sort of service were it given them.

Balance children's meals. Meat, vegetables and fruit dessert is usually filling and lasting enough to make a glass of milk too much. Serve it in late afternoon when the children need it more. It is the AND MILK that does the damage. (Copyright, 1935, The Bell Syn., Inc.)

Little Renny's
Note Book

By LEE PAPE

I was thinking about doing my home-work and pop was smoking to himself with a satisfied expression and ma wawked in saying, O dear, it's happened at last, the beginning of the end, I've just seen my first gray hair.

G, where did you see it, ma? I said, and she said, Where do you suppose I'd see it, on the ceiling? O dear, after all these years of everybody telling me my hair seemed to have the fountain of youth, I can't bare it, she said.

Aw, G, ma, what's one gray hair? I said, Maybe you saw a mouse or something and just that one hair turned white from fright, and you'll be all rite from now on if you don't see any more mice, I said, and pop said, Sure, cheer up, everybody knows gray hair is distinguished and just one hair is a small price to pay for looking distinguished.

It's the lull before the storm, I can sense ma said. Some morning I'll wake up and find myself practically gray all over, she said, and I said, Well, hooey smokes, ma, suppose all your other hairs except that one dropped out before they turned gray, that would be even worse.

If you can't tawk sense dont tawk, ma said. O dear I'm sure it's only a question of time, she said, and pop said, Now now, one gray hair doesn't make a summer, I mean winter. Look at me, I had my first gray hair when I was 25, and now every morning when I look in the mirror I breathe a prayer of thanks if I see any hairs at all, he said.

If that suppose to be meant as a consolation I'll return it with no thanks, ma said. O dear, why did you have to mention looking in the mirror every morning? she said, and I said, Well gosh, ma, why dont you make a resolution to never look in a mirror again, and if anybody ever starts to say anything about your hair, just tell them you're not interested and to mind their own business.

The answer being a small size snack some place and the final result being pop had to take ma to the movies to get her mind on other peoples troubles.
